Johnson Calls for Strike Truce and Tax Surcharge

Business Advance Termed 'Too Fast'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for a temporary no-strike truce between industry and labor, a tax increase "in the next few weeks" and a study of possible new wage-price guideposts.

In his annual Economic Report, Johnson warned Congress the business advance is running "too fast for safety." The nation must choose quickly, he said, whether it wants to avoid a "feverish boom" leading to "a possible financial crisis, and perhaps ultimately a recession."

The expansion can be moderated— by prompt enactment of his proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge— to a high but healthy production gain of $61 billion he said. That would bring 1968 output to a record $846 billion.

"Damage already has been done to interest rates, to our trade surplus, and to the level of prices by the failure of Congress to act last fall," Johnson said, and added:

"But it is still not too late to avoid far more serious problems if action is taken in the next few weeks."

He endorsed a voluntary moratorium on strikes in major industries to keep American goods available and competitive in world markets and prevent further balance-of-payments trouble.

"We must," Johnson said, "exert every effort to avoid the possible destructive effects on our trade surplus of strikes or the threat of strikes in key industries.

"I urge business and labor to cooperate with the Secretaries of Labor and Commerce in dealing with this danger to our export surplus."

The President also announced establishment of a Cabinet Committee on Price Stability directed to develop means of fostering price and wage stability. Among other devices the committee will try to draft a formula for voluntary restraint in wage and price decisions.

The panel will not intervene "in specific current wage or price matters," Johnson said. But he indicated it will seek some guidelines device to replace the virtually defunct wage-price guideposts promulgated under President John F. Kennedy.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers— whose new chairman, Arthur M. Okun, will head the Cabinet committee— said in its own report, transmitted to Congress along with Johnson's, that a series of conferences will be started shortly with representatives of labor, business and the public.

The aim, said the council, will be "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

Johnson's report was the last of three major presidential messages sent annually to a new session of Congress. Its demand for approval of the proposed $10.2 billion surtax, to become effective April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations, was delivered in even stronger terms than in the State of the Union and budget messages.

But Johnson never mentioned a threat of price or wage ceilings. And his council used such terms as "folly," "repugnant," "arbitrary," and "clumsy" in rejecting direct controls.

In his own 11,000-word portion of the message, the President:

— Vowed anew not to devalue the dollar. The U.S. commitment to maintain gold at $35 an ounce is firm and clear, he said, adding:

"We will not be a party to raising its price. The dollar will continue to be kept as good as or better than gold."

— Asked speedy action by Congress to erase the requirement that the bulk of the gold stock remain frozen as a currency reserve.

— Reiterated his Jan. 1 directives to close the balance-of-payments deficit, urging Americans to postpone travel outside the Western Hemisphere for two years.

— Denounced the movement in Congress to impose import quotas on steel and a score of other products. This would be "retreating into shortsighted protectionism," Johnson said, and would bring swift retaliation against U.S. goods, thus penalizing all Americans.

"Protectionism is no answer to our balance-of-payments problem," the President added. "Its solution depends on expanding world trade."

— To the latter end, Johnson announced he shortly will send Congress legislation to extend unused tariff-cutting authority and take other steps toward freer trade.

Although the message referred only briefly to the proposed labor-management no-strike pledge, the advisers' companion report noted the steel industry presents a current threat to the payments balance.

Hammer Blow on Thumb Injures

Billie Taylor was treated in the Missouri Delta Community hospital emergency room after he struck a thumb with a hammer at his home.

Tornado Watch Posted

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Weather Bureau issued a tornado watch today for a portion of extreme east central Oklahoma, most of northern and central Arkansas, extreme south central and most of southeast Missouri.

"The threat of one or two isolated tornadoes will exist in these areas from 1 p.m. until 7 p.m., this Thursday afternoon," it said. "A few severe thunderstorms with large hail and locally damaging winds are also forecast.

"The greatest threat of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms is in an area along and 60 miles either side of a line from 50 miles southwest of Fort Smith, Ark., to 40 miles southeast of Paducah, Ky."

Juveniles Run Away, Put in Jail

Four youths are in the city jail today. They are being held for juvenile authorities after running away from home yesterday and breaking jail in Dexter.

Three of the youths are girls, 16, 15 and 14. The other youth is a boy, 14. The 15-year-old girl is from Bertrand. The other youths are from Sikeston.

The four youths were picked up Tuesday night by Dexter police. Their parents and Scott county juvenile authorities were notified. Bob Summers, juvenile officer of Scott and Mississippi counties, asked Dexter police to hold the youths until he arrived.

But the four escaped jail between 6:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday. One of the girls called her mother at 11:37 p.m. Wednesday from a place near Dexter and said they wanted to come home.

The girl's mother picked up the youths and brought them to the Sikeston police department where they are being held for the juvenile officer.

In other activity, Mrs. L. M. Kemp, 231 Young St., reported to police at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday that the left front headlight, the left front door glass, and the front grille of her automobile was dented while it was parked in front of her house.

Dr. John Sargent, 614 Moore Ave., reported at 8:45 a.m. today his daughter's bicycle, a blue Schwinn girl's model with a banana set, was taken.

Diehard Elements Prolong Saigon Raid

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. armed forces struck with major infantry and armored units at Communist forces in Saigon and several other menaced cities today, combatting a Red offensive that Gen. William C. Westmoreland called "a go for broke proposition."

Sniping persisted in Saigon streets after nightfall. Shots were fired at a U.S. billet called the Five Oceans. South Vietnamese marines were reported battling an enemy force of undetermined size north of the Tan Son Nhut airbase. Major U.S. infantry and tank units hunted for enemy elements.

Reporting on operations elsewhere, the U.S. Command announced helicopter-borne troops of the 1st Cavalry Division secured Quang Tri City, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province. Gunships helped thwart the 800 or so Communist troops who had driven into that city, 19 miles below the demilitarized zone.

Three companies of U.S. Marines, a platoon of Army tanks and two battalions of South Vietnamese troops — more than 2,000 men in all — battled to clear an enemy force estimated at half their number from Hue, the old imperial capital 400 miles north of Saigon.

Riflemen of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division flew into Dalat, a mountain resort 140 miles northeast of Saigon, to help Vietnamese forces drive out infiltrated Viet Cong platoons. The guerrillas had seized the center of Dalat, a market place and a U.S. military police barracks.

Gen. Westmoreland predicted the Communists will follow up their current drive against key cities with their biggest offensive of the war, a drive in the northern provinces below the demilitarized zone. U.S. Marines form the main allied shield there against four or five divisions of Hanoi regulars — perhaps up to 50,000 men.

The commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, in calling the enemy's present operation a go for broke proposition, told a news conference: "It was all or nothing. He has put forth his maximum effort. He will be very badly hurt. It will take him many, many weeks to recover, and in some areas many months."

Girl Flagged And Beaten In Pemiscot

CARUTHERSVILLE — A Negro suspect is being held in the Pemiscot county jail, and a second Negro boy is sought following the beating of a 17-year-old girl after she was flagged down on route A, last night at 7:30 p.m.

She is an expectant mother and had left her home in Deering in a pickup truck on her way to see her husband, who is employed at a machine shop.

She was driving between Deering and Braggadocio when the two youths flagged the driver down with flashlights.

The girl was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in shock. Officers are awaiting her recovery to question her. Sheriff Clyde Orton said officers had not determined whether she had been raped.

State patrolmen and Pemiscot county authorities investigated.

MU to Train Delta Area Head Start Workers

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) — A cooperative program for training 160 fulltime Head Start Program staff members in five areas of Missouri will be inaugurated by the University of Missouri and Central Missouri State College.

Head Start is designed to give pre-school age children of economically deprived families some learning experience to help them when they begun school.

The University of Missouri will direct the program in three areas, a joint announcement said today. They are the Green Hills area with headquarters at Milan; Delta area headquartered at Portageville; and the St. Louis area, with classes in St. Louis.

Central Missouri State College will direct the program in two areas, the Missouri Valley area with headquarters at Carrollton and the West Central area headquartered at Appleton City.

The Office of Economic Opportunity is providing $59,742 for the project.

Station Robbed By Man With Hand in Pocket

POPLAR BLUFF — The Carl Bolch service station on the Ditch road, south of Poplar Bluff, was held up by a robber, who entered the station with his hand in his pocket.

The man, described as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, wearing a gray overcoat and a blue baseball cap, walked into the station at 7:30 p.m. and took $70 in bills.

He left on foot. The state patrol was called.

City Taxes 93 Per Cent Collected

Current taxes collected in Sikeston on real estate, personal property and from merchants and manufacturers have reached the 93.7 per cent mark, which is comparable to the amount collected last year at this time, City Collector Ronald Lee said today.

Collections recorded in January totaled $44,503.42. Of the total, only $14,316.49, is in current taxes. Current real estate taxes collected last month totaled $9,552.54. Personal property taxes collected were $4,308.28; while merchants and manufacturers taxes collected totaled $455.67.

Delinquent real estate taxes collected last month for 1959-66, totaled $846.64. Back personal property taxes collected for 1963-66, amounted to $123.36. And delinquent merchants and manufacturers taxes totaled only $3.62.

License collection in January, totaled $7,068.87. Auto licenses accounted for $6,062.00 of the total. Merchants licenses brought in another $989.87 and dog licenses amounted to $17.

Miscellaneous collections for last month came to $22,144.44. In addition to the monthly franchise payment of $2,995.79 from Associated Natural Gas Co., a semi-annual franchise payment of $7,288.72 was received from Missouri Utilities Co. Intangible taxes brought in $11,681.26. Interest amounted to $159.68 and other costs came to $19.

Eight Aliens Register

Eight aliens registered at the post office during January as required by law, Postmaster Don Pasaka reported.

Last year nine or 10 aliens registered, and the pattern usually has varied from eight to 11 in recent years, Ewart Taylor, assistant postmaster, said. There never have been more than a dozen registered here.

Most of the persons registering are from Germany and England. Others are from Italy, China and Japan.

One Arrest in Check Probe

BENTON — Sheriff John Dennis Wednesday investigated what he described as forged checks cashed in Cape Girardeau, Chaffee and Advance.

John H. Williamson, 21, Bloomfield, was arrested and is being held in the Cape Girardeau jail charged with forgery. A St. Louis man, also 21, is being sought, the sheriff said.

Four checks were cashed in Cape Girardeau, two in Chaffee and one in Advance. The sheriff said he did not know the amounts of money involved or where they were cashed.

New Crisis in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) - Almost 15 years after the Korean armistice agreement was signed on July 27, 1953, more than one million men are on combat array on both sides of Korea's demilitarized zone and in the seas adjoining that troubled peninsula.

This includes about 55,000 Americans, a South Korean armed force of 566,000 and North Korean combat forces totaling 478,000, including 110,000 ready reserves.

Despite the show of muscle on both sides of the 38th Parallel, the number of violations of the Korean armistice agreement has been rocketing upward, particularly over the past year.

Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, on behalf of the United Nations Command in Korea, told the U.N. Security Council last November there had been a tenfold increase in North Korean violations of the armistice.

He said at that time an improved defensive security system was being constructed south of the DMZ to help prevent infiltration and raids.

Apparently as part of that effort, the USS Pueblo with its sensitive radar and listening devices took station off the east coast of Korea.

American authorities estimate more than 550 significant incidents including infiltration and armed attacks have taken place in the past year along the DMZ and within South Korea itself. This compares with only 50 serious incidents in 1966 and 59 in 1965.

Goldberg complained that armed teams of North Korean agents were infiltrated for the purpose of setting ambushes, laying mines, and carrying out raids near the DMZ.

From mid-October until early January there was a decline in the rate of incidents, U.S. officials reported, until 31 terrorists armed with machine guns sought to enter the presidential Blue House and assassinate President Chung Hee Park. This incident was followed by the capture of the Pueblo.

More than 244 North Korean infiltrators have been killed in the past year in comparison with 43 in 1966 and only four in 1965. More than 130 U.N. Command troops and 25 South Korean National Police were killed over the past year as the result of attacks by infiltrators and more than 350 military, police and civilians have been wounded.

The terror attack at Blue House was carried out by men of the specially trained 124th Commando Battalion of the Korean Peoples Army. According to unofficial sources considered reliably accurate the Soviet - equipped North Korean army of 340,000 men has 18 infantry divisions, 500 medium tanks, 450 armored vehicles, 3,000 artillery pieces above one millimeter in size and a number of SA 2 guideline surface - to - air missiles. There are reserves of 110,000 men.

The North Korean navy of 8,000 men includes two submarines turned over to them by the Soviet Union, two coastal escort vessels, minesweepers and high speed small boats including 21 motor torpedo boats.

The North Korean air force consists of 20,000 men, and 460 combat aircraft. There are 40 IL28 jet bombers, 25 MIG21 jet fighters and about 400 MIG15S and 17S. In addition there are AN2 and L12 transports, a few M14 helicopters YAK9, 11 and 18 trainers and MIG15 and IL28 trainers.

There is also a paramilitary force of 25,000 men and a civilian militia with some military training.

South Korean's army includes 18 front line infantry units, 10 tank battalions, 40 artillery battalions, 10 reserve infantry divisions. Hawk surface to air missiles and two engineering divisions.

The 17,000-man navy includes one destroyer, three destroyer escorts, four frigates, 15 coastal escort vessels, three fast transports; 11 minesweepers, eight tank landing ships and 12 medium tank landing ships. There are 30,000 marines including one newly formed division and one brigade.

The South Korean air force of 25,000 men includes 200 combat aircraft; 30 F5 jet fighters; 60 F86E Sabre jet all-weather fighters, some with Sidewinder rockets; 100 F86F fighter bombers, 10 RF86F reconnaissance planes and C46 and Aero-commander transport planes.

There also are a few Chicksaw helicopters and T28 and T33 trainers.

The United States has the 7th Infantry Division and the 2nd Infantry Division in South Korea. Usually one division is on the line and the other on strategic reserve. The U.S. 2nd Division is now manning the 19-mile long section of the DMZ from the Han River estuary to the extreme western end of the DMZ.

The commanding U.S. Eighth Army headquarters is in Seoul. There is a U.S. Navy advisory group and a small U.S. Navy forces headquarters using Chin Hae naval base jointly with the South Korean navy. Sasebo, Japan, is the major U.S. Navy base closest to the area.

The U.S. Air Force main base is at Osan, South of Seoul and there is also an important reconnaissance base at Kunsan. Both of these are used exclusively by the U.S. Air Force. They also jointly use the South Korean air force base at Taegu and elsewhere in the country. An important radar base is maintained at Yong Pyong Do, a small island off the DMZ capable of sweeping signals from Pyongyang and northward.

Nixon Announces in Open Letter

NEW YORK (AP) - Richard M. Nixon announced today in an open letter to the citizens of New Hampshire that he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former vice president told the people of that state "the choices we face are larger than any differences among Republicans or among Democrats, larger even than the differences between the parties. They are beyond politics.

Nixon said in his long-expected declaration: "Peace and freedom in the world, and peace and progress here at home, will depend on the decisions of the next President of the United States. For these critical years, America needs new leadership."

Nixon told the voters that he learned "the awesome nature of the great decisions a President faces" during his 14 years in Washington, and said he had had a chance to reflect on the lessons of public office and measure the nation's tasks and problems during the past eight years.

"I have sought to apply those lessons to the needs of the present, and to the entire sweep of this final third of the 20th century," he said. "And I believe I have found some answers."

He noted he had visited New Hampshire often in the past but said he was not asking the support of voters now "on the basis of old friendships. We have entered a new age. And I ask you to join men in helping make this an age of greatness for our people and our nations."

He plans to take off next on a six-day campaign swing through New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Oklahoma.

New Hampshire holds its first-in-the-nation primary March 12 and Wisconsin's primary follows April 2, Oklahoma convenes the first GOP state convention on Feb. 24 to elect delegates to the August Miami Beach convention.

Nixon, current leader in all the polls of GOP voters, carried all three states in his narrow 1960 loss to John F. Kennedy and they will give the first indications of his strength in the present campaign.

Five Injured in Two Collisions

A two-car collision at the intersection of highways 67 and 160 south of Poplar Bluff, and a school bus and car collision, east of Kennett on highway 84, accounted for five injuries, the state patrol said.

On highways 67 and 160, 10 miles south of Poplar Bluff, Wednesday at 5:10 p.m., a 1963 Rambler, driven by Gladys Miller, 56, Poplar Bluff, came off highway 160, turned north on highway 67, then entered the southbound lane, striking a 1966 Volkswagon, driven by Timothy Emmons, 29, Neelyville, headon.

Injured was Mrs. Miller, possible chest injury, and a passenger Charles R. Crews, 80, Poplar Bluff, cuts on his right hand.

Emmons received a possible broken right arm and a lip cut and was taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital.

Miller and Crews were taken to the Lucy Lee hospital.

Mrs. Miller arrested on a charge of careless and reckless driving and being on the wrong side of the road.

A school bus had stopped on highway 84, two miles east of Kennett, yesterday at 4:20 p.m. when a 1962 Pontiac, driven by Bonnie Brooks, 30, Kennett, skidded into the rear of the bus on wet pavement.

Injured on the bus were Rebecca Morris, six, Kennett, cuts, Mrs. Brooks, driver of the Pontiac, facial cuts and bruises. Both were taken to Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett.

Wednesday at 9:10 a.m. five miles south of Charleston on highway 105, a 1968 Chevrolet truck, driven by Harold Gree, 56, East Prairie, was making a right turn, when a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Edna Crook, 42, Charleston, approaching from the rear, skidded in the wrong lane and was struck by a 1967 Ford, driven by Brenda Rundle, 20, East Prairie.

Minimum Wage Hikes Go Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal minimum wage rose to $1.60 an hour today for 33 million workers and to $1.15 for another 8.5 million job-holders.

But because most workers already are paid above the minimum, some 7.3 million people actually will get pay hikes — about $2.3 billion more a year.

The increases are the second step in federal wage-law changes that boosted the minimum from $1.25 to $1.40 per hour last Feb. 1 for the 33 million workers already covered by the Fair Labor Standard Act and brought 8.5 million additional workers under the law starting at a $1 hourly minimum.

The increases were enacted by Congress in 1966.

An estimated six million workers whose jobs were covered before the 1966 amendments will get more pay under the latest increase from $1.40 to $1.60.

About 1.3 million of the workers brought under the law last year will benefit from the new $1.15 minimum.

For workers previously covered by the minimum wage law, originally enacted in 1938, the effects of the 1966 amendments end with the increase to $1.60 per hour.

These are workers mainly in manufacturing, transportation, wholesale trade, large retail stores, financial, insurance and real estate firms.

The minimum for the 8.5 million more recently covered workers goes up from $1.15 to $1.30 on Feb. 1, 1969, to $1.45 a year later and finally to the $1.60 top on Feb. 1, 1971.

New categories of work brought under the law a year ago include smaller retail firms, hospitals, nursing homes, laundries, restaurants, hotels and large farms.

Johnson Calls for Strike Truce and Tax Surcharge

Business Advance Termed 'Too Fast'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called today for a temporary no-strike truce between industry and labor, a tax increase "in the next few weeks" and a study of possible new wage-price guideposts.

In his annual Economic Report, Johnson warned Congress the business advance is running "too fast for safety." The nation must choose quickly, he said, whether it wants to avoid a "feverish boom" leading to "a possible financial crisis, and perhaps ultimately a recession."

The expansion can be moderated— by prompt enactment of his proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge— to a high but healthy production gain of $61 billion he said. That would bring 1968 output to a record $846 billion.

"Damage already has been done to interest rates, to our trade surplus, and to the level of prices by the failure of Congress to act last fall," Johnson said, and added:

"But it is still not too late to avoid far more serious problems if action is taken in the next few weeks."

He endorsed a voluntary moratorium on strikes in major industries to keep American goods available and competitive in world markets and prevent further balance-of-payments trouble.

"We must," Johnson said, "exert every effort to avoid the possible destructive effects on our trade surplus of strikes or the threat of strikes in key industries.

"I urge business and labor to cooperate with the Secretaries of Labor and Commerce in dealing with this danger to our export surplus."

The President also announced establishment of a Cabinet Committee on Price Stability directed to develop means of fostering price and wage stability. Among other devices the committee will try to draft a formula for voluntary restraint in wage and price decisions.

The panel will not intervene "in specific current wage or price matters," Johnson said. But he indicated it will seek some guidelines device to replace the virtually defunct wage-price guideposts promulgated under President John F. Kennedy.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers— whose new chairman, Arthur M. Okun, will head the Cabinet committee— said in its own report, transmitted to Congress along with Johnson's, that a series of conferences will be started shortly with representatives of labor, business and the public.

The aim, said the council, will be "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

In his own 11,000-word portion of the message, the President:

— Vowed anew not to devalue the dollar. The U.S. commitment to maintain gold at $35 an ounce is firm and clear, he said, adding:

"We will not be a party to raising its price. The dollar will continue to be kept as good as or better than gold."

— Asked speedy action by Congress to erase the requirement that the bulk of the gold stock remain frozen as a currency reserve.

— Reiterated his Jan. 1 directives to close the balance-of-payments deficit, urging Americans to postpone travel outside the Western Hemisphere for two years.

— Denounced the movement in Congress to impose import quotas on steel and a score of other products. This would be "retreating into shortsighted protectionism," Johnson said, and would bring swift retaliation against U.S. goods, thus penalizing all Americans.

"Protectionism is no answer to our balance-of-payments problem," the President added. "Its solution depends on expanding world trade."

— To the latter end, Johnson announced he shortly will send Congress legislation to extend unused tariff-cutting authority and take other steps toward freer trade.

Although the message referred only briefly to the proposed labor-management no-strike pledge, the advisers' companion report noted the steel industry presents a current threat to the payments balance.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. armed forces struck with major infantry and armored units at Communist forces in Saigon and several other menaced cities today, combatting a Red offensive that Gen. William C. Westmoreland called "a go for broke proposition."

Sniping persisted in Saigon streets after nightfall. Shots were fired at a U.S. billet called the Five Oceans. South Vietnamese marines were reported battling an enemy force of undetermined size north of the Tan Son Nhut airbase. Major U.S. infantry and tank units hunted for enemy elements.

Reporting on operations elsewhere, the U.S. Command announced helicopter-borne troops of the 1st Cavalry Division secured Quang Tri City, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province. Gunships helped thwart the 800 or so Communist troops who had driven into that city, 19 miles below the demilitarized zone.

Three companies of U.S. Marines, a platoon of Army tanks and two battalions of South Vietnamese troops — more than 2,000 men in all — battled to clear an enemy force estimated at half their number from Hue, the old imperial capital 400 miles north of Saigon.

Riflemen of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division flew into Dalat, a mountain resort 140 miles northeast of Saigon, to help Vietnamese forces drive out infiltrated Viet Cong platoons. The guerrillas had seized the center of Dalat, a market place and a U.S. military police barracks.

Gen. Westmoreland predicted the Communists will follow up their current drive against key cities with their biggest offensive of the war, a drive in the northern provinces below the demilitarized zone. U.S. Marines form the main allied shield there against four or five divisions of Hanoi regulars — perhaps up to 50,000 men.

The commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, in calling the enemy's present operation a go for broke proposition, told a news conference: "It was all or nothing. He has put forth his maximum effort. He will be very badly hurt. It will take him many, many weeks to recover, and in some areas many months."

Girl Flagged And Beaten In Pemiscot

CARUTHERSVILLE — A Negro suspect is being held in the Pemiscot county jail, and a second Negro boy is sought following the beating of a 17-year-old girl after she was flagged down on route A, last night at 7:30 p.m.

She is an expectant mother and had left her home in Deering in a pickup truck on her way to see her husband, who is employed at a machine shop.

She was driving between Deering and Braggadocio when the two youths flagged the driver down with flashlights.

The girl was taken to the Pemiscot County Memorial hospital in shock. Officers are awaiting her recovery to question her. Sheriff Clyde Orton said officers had not determined whether she had been raped.

State patrolmen and Pemiscot county authorities investigated.

MU to Train Delta Area Head Start Workers

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) — A cooperative program for training 160 fulltime Head Start Program staff members in five areas of Missouri will be inaugurated by the University of Missouri and Central Missouri State College.

Head Start is designed to give pre-school age children of economically deprived families some learning experience to help them when they begun school.

The University of Missouri will direct the program in three areas, a joint announcement said today. They are the Green Hills area with headquarters at Milan; Delta area headquartered at Portageville; and the St. Louis area, with classes in St. Louis.

Central Missouri State College will direct the program in two areas, the Missouri Valley area with headquarters at Carrollton and the West Central area headquartered at Appleton City.

The Office of Economic Opportunity is providing $59,742 for the project.

City Taxes 93 Per Cent Collected

Current taxes collected in Sikeston on real estate, personal property and from merchants and manufacturers have reached the 93.7 per cent mark, which is comparable to the amount collected last year at this time, City Collector Ronald Lee said today.

Collections recorded in January totaled $44,503.42. Of the total, only $14,316.49, is in current taxes. Current real estate taxes collected last month totaled $9,552.54. Personal property taxes collected were $4,308.28; while merchants and manufacturers taxes collected totaled $455.67.

Delinquent real estate taxes collected last month for 1959-66, totaled $846.64. Back personal property taxes collected for 1963-66, amounted to $123.36. And delinquent merchants and manufacturers taxes totaled only $3.62.

License collection in January, totaled $7,068.87. Auto licenses accounted for $6,062.00 of the total. Merchants licenses brought in another $989.87 and dog licenses amounted to $17.

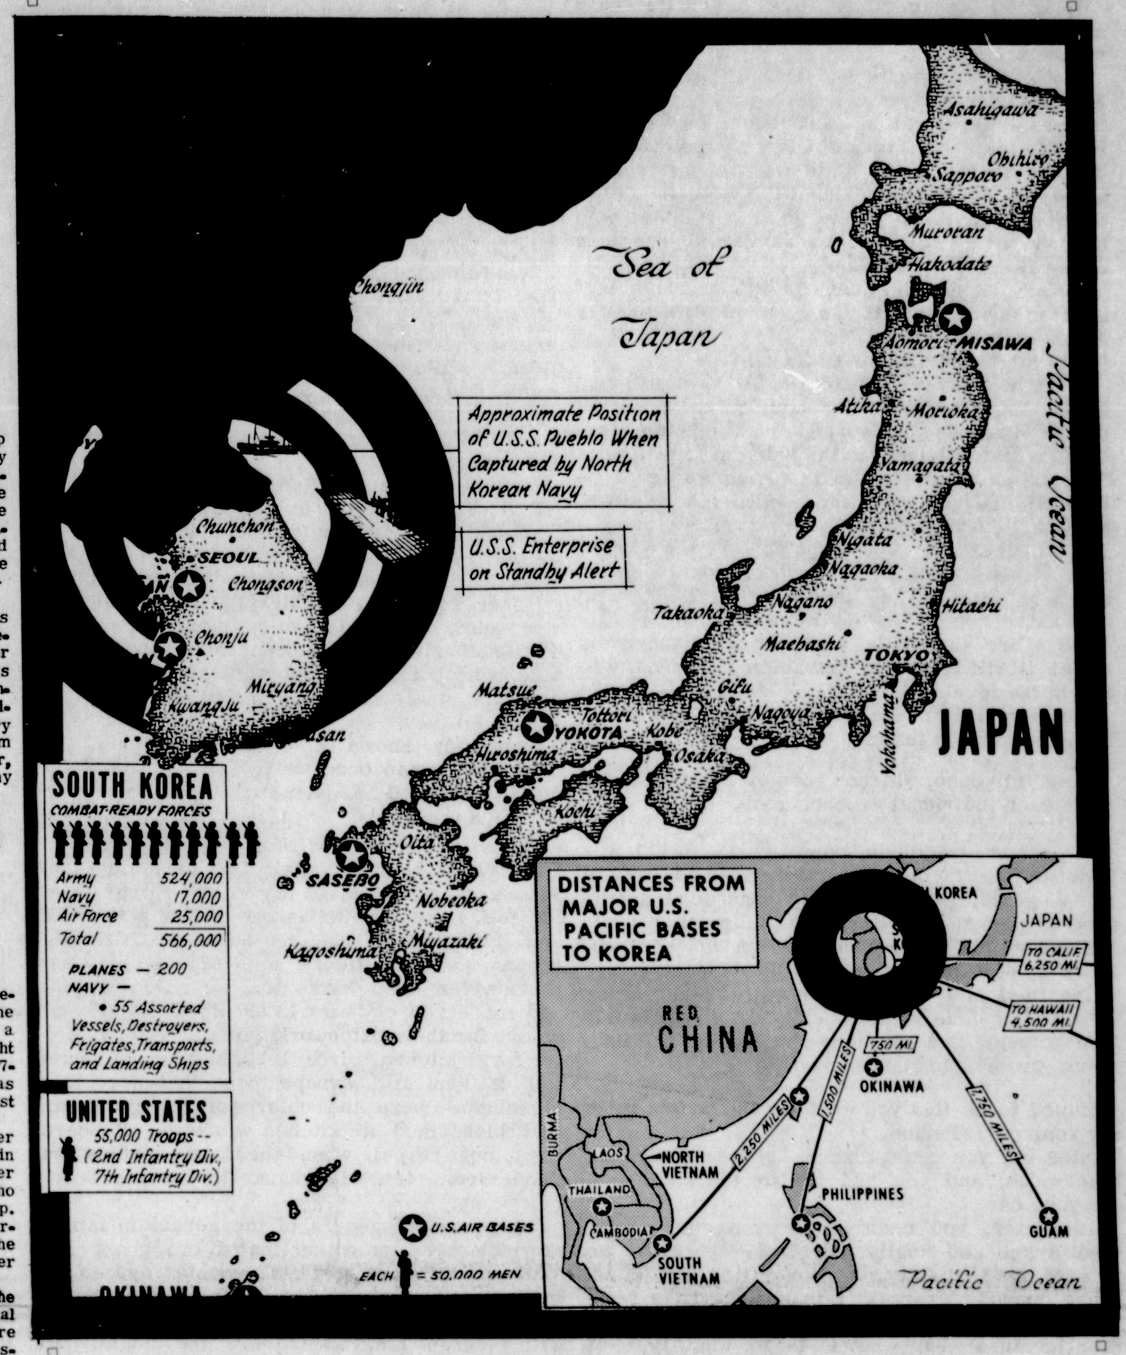

Miscellaneous collections for last month came to $22,144.44. In addition to the monthly franchise payment of $2,995.79 from Associated Natural Gas Co., a semi-annual franchise payment of $7,288.72 was received from Missouri Utilities Co. Intangible taxes brought in $11,681.26. Interest amounted to $159.68 and other costs came to $19.

Station Robbed By Man With Hand in Pocket

POPLAR BLUFF — The Carl Bolch service station on the Ditch road, south of Poplar Bluff, was held up by a robber, who entered the station with his hand in his pocket.

The man, described as being five feet, eight inches tall, weighing about 130 pounds, wearing a gray overcoat and a blue baseball cap, walked into the station at 7:30 p.m. and took $70 in bills.

He left on foot. The state patrol was called.

New Crisis in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) - Almost 15 years after the Korean armistice agreement was signed on July 27, 1953, more than one million men are on combat array on both sides of Korea's demilitarized zone and in the seas adjoining that troubled peninsula.

This includes about 55,000 Americans, a South Korean armed force of 566,000 and North Korean combat forces totaling 478,000, including 110,000 ready reserves.

Despite the show of muscle on both sides of the 38th Parallel, the number of violations of the Korean armistice agreement has been rocketing upward, particularly over the past year.

Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, on behalf of the United Nations Command in Korea, told the U.N. Security Council last November there had been a tenfold increase in North Korean violations of the armistice.

He said at that time an improved defensive security system was being constructed south of the DMZ to help prevent infiltration and raids.

Apparently as part of that effort, the USS Pueblo with its sensitive radar and listening devices took station off the east coast of Korea.

American authorities estimate more than 550 significant incidents including infiltration and armed attacks have taken place in the past year along the DMZ and within South Korea itself.

This compares with only 50 serious incidents in 1966 and 59 in 1965.

Goldberg complained that armed teams of North Korean agents were infiltrated for the purpose of setting ambushes, laying mines, and carrying out raids near the DMZ.

From mid-October until early January there was a decline in the rate of incidents, U.S. officials reported, until 31 terrorists armed with machine guns sought to enter the presidential Blue House and assassinate President Chung Hee Park. This incident was followed by the capture of the Pueblo.

More than 244 North Korean infiltrators have been killed in the past year in comparison with 43 in 1966 and only four in 1965. More than 130 U.N. Command troops and 25 South Korean National Police were killed over the past year as the result of attacks by infiltrators and more than 350 military, police and civilians have been wounded.

The terror attack at Blue House was carried out by men of the specially trained 124th Commando Battalion of the Korean Peoples Army. According to unofficial sources considered reliably accurate the Soviet-equipped North Korean army of 340,000 men has 18 infantry divisions, 500 medium tanks, 450 armored vehicles, 3,000 artillery pieces above one millimeter in size and a number of SA 2 guideline surface-to-air missiles. There are reserves of 110,000 men.

The North Korean navy of 8,000 men includes two submarines turned over to them by the Soviet Union, two coastal escort vessels, minesweepers and high speed small boats including 21 motor torpedo boats.

The North Korean air force consists of 20,000 men, and 460 combat aircraft. There are 40 IL28 jet bombers, 25 MIG21 jet fighters and about 400 MIG15S and 17S. In addition there are AN2 and L12 transports, a few M14 helicopters YAK9, 11 and 18 trainers and MIG15 and IL28 trainers.

There is also a paramilitary force of 25,000 men and a civilian militia with some military training.

South Korean's army includes 18 front line infantry units, 10 tank battalions, 40 artillery battalions, 10 reserve infantry divisions. Hawk surface to air missiles and two engineering divisions.

The 17,000-man navy includes one destroyer, three destroyer escorts, four frigates, 15 coastal escort vessels, three fast transports; 11 minesweepers, eight tank landing ships and 12 medium tank landing ships. There are 30,000 marines including one newly formed division and one brigade.

The South Korean air force of 25,000 men includes 200 combat aircraft; 30 F5 jet fighters; 60 F86E Sabre jet all-weather fighters, some with Sidewinder rockets; 100 F86F fighter bombers, 10 RF86F reconnaissance planes and C46 and Aerocommander transport planes.

There also are a few Chicksaw helicopters and T28 and T33 trainers.

The United States has the 7th Infantry Division and the 2nd Infantry Division in South Korea. Usually one division is on the line and the other on strategic reserve. The U.S. 2nd Division is now manning the 19-mile long section of the DMZ from the Han River estuary to the extreme western end of the DMZ.

The commanding U.S. Eighth Army headquarters is in Seoul. There is a U.S. Navy advisory group and a small U.S. Navy forces headquarters using Chin Hae naval base jointly with the South Korean navy. Sasebo, Japan, is the major U.S. Navy base closest to the area.

The U.S. Air Force main base is at Osan, South of Seoul and there is also an important reconnaissance base at Kunsan. Both of these are used exclusively by the U.S. Air Force. They also jointly use the South Korean air force base at Taegu and elsewhere in the country. An important radar base is maintained at Yong Pyong Do, a small island off the DMZ capable of sweeping signals from Pyongyang and northward.

One Arrest in Check Probe

BENTON — Sheriff John Dennis Wednesday investigated what he described as forged checks cashed in Cape Girardeau, Chaffee and Advance.

John H. Williamson, 21, Bloomfield, was arrested and is being held in the Cape Girardeau jail charged with forgery. A St. Louis man, also 21, is being sought, the sheriff said.

Four checks were cashed in Cape Girardeau, two in Chaffee and one in Advance. The sheriff said he did not know the amounts of money involved or where they were cashed.

Nixon Announces in Open Letter

NEW YORK (AP) - Richard M. Nixon announced today in an open letter to the citizens of New Hampshire that he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former vice president told the people of that state "the choices we face are larger than any differences among Republicans or among Democrats, larger even than the differences between the parties. They are beyond politics.

Nixon said in his long-expected declaration: "Peace and freedom in the world, and peace and progress here at home, will depend on the decisions of the next President of the United States. For these critical years, America needs new leadership."

Nixon told the voters that he learned "the awesome nature of the great decisions a President faces" during his 14 years in Washington, and said he had had a chance to reflect on the lessons of public office and measure the nation's tasks and problems during the past eight years.

"I have sought to apply those lessons to the needs of the present, and to the entire sweep of this final third of the 20th century," he said. "And I believe I have found some answers."

He noted he had visited New Hampshire often in the past but said he was not asking the support of voters now "on the basis of old friendships. We have entered a new age. And I ask you to join men in helping make this an age of greatness for our people and our nations."

He plans to take off next on a six-day campaign swing through New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Oklahoma.

New Hampshire holds its first-in-the-nation primary March 12 and Wisconsin's primary follows April 2, Oklahoma convenes the first GOP state convention on Feb. 24 to elect delegates to the August Miami Beach convention.

Nixon, current leader in all the polls of GOP voters, carried all three states in his narrow 1960 loss to John F. Kennedy and they will give the first indications of his strength in the present campaign.

Five Injured in Two Collisions

A two-car collision at the intersection of highways 67 and 160 south of Poplar Bluff, and a school bus and car collision, east of Kennett on highway 84, accounted for five injuries, the state patrol said.

On highways 67 and 160, 10 miles south of Poplar Bluff, Wednesday at 5:10 p.m., a 1963 Rambler, driven by Gladys Miller, 56, Poplar Bluff, came off highway 160, turned north on highway 67, then entered the southbound lane, striking a 1966 Volkswagon, driven by Timothy Emmons, 29, Neelyville, headon.

Injured was Mrs. Miller, possible chest injury, and a passenger Charles R. Crews, 80, Poplar Bluff, cuts on his right hand.

Emmons received a possible broken right arm and a lip cut and was taken to the Poplar Bluff hospital.

Miller and Crews were taken to the Lucy Lee hospital.

Mrs. Miller arrested on a charge of careless and reckless driving and being on the wrong side of the road.

A school bus had stopped on highway 84, two miles east of Kennett, yesterday at 4:20 p.m. when a 1962 Pontiac, driven by Bonnie Brooks, 30, Kennett, skidded into the rear of the bus on wet pavement.

Injured on the bus were Rebecca Morris, six, Kennett, cuts, Mrs. Brooks, driver of the Pontiac, facial cuts and bruises. Both were taken to Dunklin County Memorial hospital in Kennett.

Wednesday at 9:10 a.m. five miles south of Charleston on highway 105, a 1968 Chevrolet truck, driven by Harold Gree, 56, East Prairie, was making a right turn, when a 1964 Pontiac, driven by Edna Crook, 42, Charleston, approaching from the rear, skidded in the wrong lane and was struck by a 1967 Ford, driven by Brenda Rundle, 20, East Prairie.

Eight Aliens Register

Eight aliens registered at the post office during January as required by law, Postmaster Don Pasaka reported.

Last year nine or 10 aliens registered, and the pattern usually has varied from eight to 11 in recent years, Ewart Taylor, assistant postmaster, said. There never have been more than a dozen registered here.

Most of the persons registering are from Germany and England. Others are from Italy, China and Japan.

Minimum Wage Hikes Go Into Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal minimum wage rose to $1.60 an hour today for 33 million workers and to $1.15 for another 8.5 million job-holders.

But because most workers already are paid above the minimum, some 7.3 million people actually will get pay hikes — about $2.3 billion more a year.

The increases are the second step in federal wage-law changes that boosted the minimum from $1.25 to $1.40 per hour last Feb. 1 for the 33 million workers already covered by the Fair Labor Standard Act and brought 8.5 million additional workers under the law starting at a $1 hourly minimum.

The increases were enacted by Congress in 1966.

An estimated six million workers whose jobs were covered before the 1966 amendments will get more pay under the latest increase from $1.40 to $1.60.

About 1.3 million of the workers brought under the law last year will benefit from the new $1.15 minimum.

For workers previously covered by the minimum wage law, originally enacted in 1938, the effects of the 1966 amendments end with the increase to $1.60 per hour.

These are workers mainly in manufacturing, transportation, wholesale trade, large retail stores, financial, insurance and real estate firms.

The minimum for the 8.5 million more recently covered workers goes up from $1.15 to $1.30 on Feb. 1, 1969, to $1.45 a year later and finally to the $1.60 top on Feb. 1, 1971.

New categories of work brought under the law a year ago include smaller retail firms, hospitals, nursing homes, laundries, restaurants, hotels and large farms.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

When you see a car driven by an individual whose actions make you suspicious take down the license number.

That's the suggestion of Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael of Scott county.

Michael says that in the apprehension of Will Roy Bollinger, 26, of Bell City, charged with the $23,890 holdup of the State Bank of Puxico, the ability of witnesses to recall the license number of Bollinger's car played an important role in his capture. Bollinger was arrested less than 24 hours after the stickup.

In this instance the license plate number was of greater significance than a description of the car due to circumstances.

This might not always be the case.

So the best advice probably would be to remember everything possible about any individual whose conduct arouses your suspicion. These would include a careful look at the individual, how he is dressed, height, weight and approximate age, habits and conduct; his automobile, color, make, type, and the license number or numbers.

Under the law as interpreted by the United States supreme court, peace officers need all the help they can get from citizens in obtaining evidence.

The more criminals who are imprisoned the better it will be for the law abiding citizens, who are in the majority.

The survival of many of us may depend on bringing them to justice.

A western petroleum company decided it was time to tap the oil reserves under the city of Los Angeles. So, the company engaged an architect to design a drilling installation that would harmonize with new construction in the area. It is a beautiful ten-story, sky-blue structure of vertical steel panels, behind a 12-foot ornamental flagstone wall, looking for all the world like a very modern high-rise office building, sound-proofed and landscaped.

It used to be that you went out and bought tires for your car. Period.

Later on, you could choose between white- or blackwalls, and you had to buy the right size for your car.

Still later, you could buy rayon cord tires; then nylon, and finally polyester, fiberglass or or even steel cord tires.

Tire manufacturers in this country have recently come out with other offerings that can further confuse your choice as to what type of tires to buy. There is one manufacturer, for instance, which offers the added safety feature of a reflective coating on the sidewalls, similar to that which is used on traffic signs to make them more visible at night, and which is being used in auto striping as both a decorative and safety item.

Two of the most important offerings on the tire scene concern the basic design of the tire itself. These new tires are called radials and wide-treads, or "wide-ovals".

The latter is a wider, "squatter" version of the conventional bias tire, with a ply rating. It has almost two inches more width in its "footprint," and it takes its name from the fact that a cross-section view appears oval-like.

Although primarily a styling item to increase sales, the tires do offer somewhat better traction, high-speed performance, cornering ability and treadwear, and sell for about 30 per cent more.

Conventional tires have layers of cords that run diagnoally at right angles to each other from rim-bead to rim-bead. Radial-ply tires feature another cord layer(s) running straight across the bottom of the tire from bead to bead. This gives the tire a longer "footprint," which does not distort in the middle as in conventional tires.

This offers the following advantages: 50 to 100 per cent longer tread life; better skid and traction performance; improved fuel mileage; better ride at high speeds, and more resistance to puncture and road hazards.

A few disadvantages, too: Low-speed harshness and noise; "odd" steering characteristics at medium speeds; 30 per cent higher price than conventional tires.

Wide-treads and radials should be purchased in complete sets, as they don't mix well on the same vehicle with convention tires. They should NEVER be mixed with conventionals on the same axle.

THOSE SHOCKING POSTCARDS

Since our nation was founded, there have been many who have argued for government ownership and operation of many types of business. Their primary argument has been that a governmental enterprise can do a job more economically than private industry and, therefore, can serve the public better.

One specific case effectively refutes this argument.

Sixty years ago, the Edison Light and Power Company supplied electricity to its customers in Kansas at the rate of 50 cents per kilowatt hour. It cost Edison one cent to send out its monthly bills on the back of a postcard.

Today, Edison supplies its customers electric power at the rate of two cents per kilowatt hour, but the postage rate for a postcard has risen to four cents. This amounts to a 400 per cent increase in the postage rate.

An average American home, if fully electrified, uses about 24,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a year. Sixty years ago, this would have cost a home owner $12,000 a year. Today, it costs him $480 a year. But if the Edison Company had run its business no more efficiently than the Post Office Department, the bill would be $48,000 today.

The basis for the growth in our economic system of personal enterprise is the profit motive system. It is also interesting to compare government business with private industry in this area. While the Post Office Department has accumulated a deficit of $10 billion, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., accumulated $22 billion in profit and its rates are firmly regulated by the government.

GERANIUMS IN THE WINDOW

The human heart has always hungered for color. Pioneers and colonials dug colored ochre from the soil, mixed it with linseed oil and buttermilk, and made yellow and red paint for barns and houses, kitchen floors and stippled ceilings. Housewives used barks and herbs for dyeing, and made red cloth for kitchen tables and bright colors for their patchwork quilts.

A farm kitchen, circa 1910, had familiar hues. But of them all, perhaps those that were most meaningful were the colors of the geraniums that blossomed in kitchen windows. Research does not reveal when the first species was taken from its wild haunt to furnish beauty in a home.

There are 11 genera of the geranium family, of which three are domesticated.

There are some 230 wild species and an unknown number of hybrids. The native home of most wild species is Africa. There are varieties with pleasant fragrance; there are single petal, semi-double and double varieties. Some of the names are appealing. Twin Fires, Afterglow, Olimpic Red, Pigmy, Dixie, Hills of Snow, Happy Thought and Jubilee.

Half a century ago housewives were proud of vigorous plants with glossy green leaves and blossoms that offered beauty in the winter. Fields were white with snow, and felt leggings hung on a line behind the range. The cheerful color of the blossoms in the south windows of the kitchen gave a lift to the heart during the long winter stretch.

It is a humble house plant that has come to have deep meaning on Memorial Day when glowing red blossoms are a tribute to those who have gone. But since our nation's early days, it has also brought cheer to the living.

On lonely farms and ranches when the long time of cold and deep snow was on the land, geraniums in the windows have been banners that helped keep courage high and satisfied a hunger in the heart.

"Yes," said the battered plaintiff, "his wife. Charming, of course, but not much good in a fight."

EDITORS LOOK AT THE RAILROADS

Every so often the Association of American Railroads analyzes newspaper editorials on railroad topics appearing in American newspapers. The latest of these analyses covers 971 editorials which came from 48 states and the District of Columbia and were printed during the second quarter of the year.

A very wide spectrum was covered in these editorial discussions. And the striking fact revealed is that editors are unanimous or virtually so in believing that the railroads are essential to the nation; that they must remain under private ownership; that they are in a serious financial condition; that they are overregulated or that regulation is outmoded; that they are unfairly taxed; that they should have greater freedom to make competitive rates; that Congress should take further action to correct inequities in transportation policy; that "featherbedding" or make-work rules should be eliminated, nd so on.

Editors do not hold views such as these out of any special interest in the railroad industry per se. They hold them because they know that the nation's economic health and national security alike require a dynamic, progressive railroad network. The other carriers provide essential services. But only the railroads can transport anything moveable anywhere at any time. They are the basic, irreplaceable form of transportation, and no other can take their place.

The interminable and destructive delays in dealing with transportation problems that can only be solved by governmental action cannot be countenanced much longer. The railroads have done wonders in improving their services under unfair and unfavorable conditions. How much more they could do if given the chance!

NOBODY WAS WATCHING!

An old maid appeared before the Pearly Gates. St. Peter looked her over, then asked, "Yes, what is it you want?"

"I want to get in."

"And why, should we let you in?"

"Because," said the old maid, "I've been pure and chaste all my life. I never drank or smoked, petted, or went to wild parties. But why should I tell you all this? You have all this information in your records."

"I'm sorry, but we don't keep any records," said St. Peter, "But step inside and sit down on the bench, and your case will be considered."

The old maid entered, sat down and looked around. Nearby she saw a big circle of women, their hands joined. She watched as one of the women walked outside the circle. Then she stopped, kicked one one of the women on the seat, and took her place in the circle where the kicked woman dropped out.

The woman who had dropped out repeated the performance, kicking another woman in the circle. This went on for some time. Finally, the old maid called to St. Peter: "What is that game those women are playing?"

"I don't know," shrugged St. Peter, "All I know is they've been playing it every since they learned that we don't keep records!"

NEXT COMES HEMISFAIR '68

While all the noise about fairs this year is taking place north of the border, next year's action will be taking place in San Antonio, Texas, an almost south-of-the-border town. It will be called Hemisfair '68, and it will run from April 6 to October 6, with the theme Confluence of Civilizations in the Americas.

A PANORAMA OF PROGRESS

A railroad train has always attracted boys both big and small. There is something alive about a fast passenger or freight train as it goes by and disappears in the distance.

A freight train is no longer just a string of boxcars and flatcars. Watching three giant diesel engines snake a 100-car freight train over a railroad crossing, one gets an idea of what mass rail transportation means to the country. One sees specialized cars built specifically to handle particular products -- the days when every kind of freight had to be shipped in either a boxcar or flatcar are long gone. There are three-deck flatcars equipped to carry five automobiles to the deck; cars to dump a load of logs at one roll; cars in tandem or triplet for hauling long loads like giant trusses or oil refinery towers; airslide cars loaded and unloaded pneumatically; "piggyback" cars to carry giant road trailers which may have self-contained refrigeration and move fruit and vegetables across the continent; special refrigerator cars; cars designed to haul heavy machinery of various kinds. Last, but not least, in the string of perhaps a hundred cars that comprise a modern freight train, is the radio equipped caboose providing instant communication facilities. Rail equipment such as this, developed and put in service in the past few years, now takes tremendous loads off our overcrowded highways.

Operating under outdated regulation, which has failed to advance with the changing times, the railroads constantly seek to adjust to meet the transport needs of a growing nation.

NEW YORK (AP) - From where I sit I can see a fellow white collar slave cleaning off his desk.

He has thrown all the papers that were on it into a wastebasket. He is mopping the top with a moist dust cloth, and his face is flushed with a rapt expression of self-virture.

And I know that in a few moments, dust cloth still in hand, he will stroll over here, look at me accusingly and demand:

"Why don't you clean off your desk? You've got it so cluttered you're giving the city dump a bad name."

He thinks I will look guilty and make excuses for the fact that, over the years, my desk has come to look something like the Augean stables during a tornado. But I'm not going to apologize to him at all. I'm going to make a speech to him.

And this is what I am going to say:

"Friend, half the troubles in this world are caused by people who insist on trying to lead other people's lives for them.

"Because you have just finished cleaning off your desk, you smugly assume that I should clean off my desk, too. I don't feel that way at all.

"To keep a clean desk doesn't require any special skill or indicate any particular merit. By rewarding him with a free banana now and then, you could teach a chimpanzee to do it.

"In my opinion a clean desk is often the sign of a frightened mind. By massaging your desk top you are perhaps trying to wash away your own feelings of inferiority or seeking to get another gold star on your office report card. Now that you have cleaned off your desk, why don't you complete the job by jumping into the wastebasket yourself, thus giving your desk a chance to start life over with a new pilot?

"His work should be a man's monument. Your desk right now is like a tombstone without an inscription on it. I could belong to anybody. It has no character, no identity.

"My desk, on the other hand, is a testimonial to 30 or more years of fruitful living. This pile -be careful, it may topple over and suffocate you - may look like mere debris to you. To me, however, layer by lovely layer, it represents the geological strata of a happy work life.

"Every time you polish your desk you throw away part of your life. Well, I love life, and I think no part of it should be carelessly discarded. Who is to say, after all, what is important? The paper or pamphlet I might consider throwing away today - such as this one on the odd courtship habits of the porcupine - may turn out tomorrow to be the one I most desperately need.

"Now, please stuff that dust cloth into your mouth and go back to your neat and empty desk. I've got to start earning my daily bread."

NEW, HARD LOOK AT THE DISSENTERS

The right to dissent, we are repeatedly told today, is one of the fundamental strengths of a democracy.

If so, democracy should be flourishing in America, for more and more people are flinging up banners of dissent--dissent from the war in Vietnam, from the conventional morality, from the way the government, the cities, the schools, the churches are run.

In the opinion of one noted historian, however, dissent is not the great strength but the great problem of America today.

The trouble, says Daniel J. Boorstin of the University of Chicago, is our failure to make a distinction between dissent and disagreement.

Dissent, he says, means originally to feel apart from others. Disagreement produces debate, but dissent produces dissension.

"People who disagree have an argument, but people who dissent have a quarrel. People may disagree but both may count themselves in the majority, but a person who dissents is by definition in a minority.

"A liberal society thrives on disagreement but is killed by dissension. Disagreement is the lifeblood of democracy; dissension is its cancer."

A sniper's bullet is an eloquent expression of dissent, he says. It doesn't express disagreement. It is simply formless, inarticulate, unproductive.

There is another expression of dissent that might be cited. Though not so eloquent as a sniper's bullet, it is even more frightening because of its seductive appeal to youth. It is the philosophy of "drop out, turn on and tune in" -- the withdrawal from the stresses and demands of life to contemplate the drug-induced phantasmagoria of one's own mind.

The hippie does not just disagree with the values of society (some of which certainly need disagreeing with), nor does he desire to change them. He wants no part of that society at all. But in the psychedelic subsociety he flees to, he becomes the greatest conformist of all.

It is worth noting, says Boorstin, that some of the greatest American champions of the right to disagree--Thomas Jefferson, Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. and others--were also great believers in the duty of the community to be peacefully governed by the will of the majority.

Professional dissenters do not seek to assimilate their ideas or ideals into American culture, he charges. Their main object is to preserve their separate identity as a dissenting group. They are not interested in anybody's freedom but their own.

The spirit of dissent stalks our land, says Boorstin. All over the country more and more people are quarreling over more and more subjects and fewer and fewer people are debating.

A society of disagreers is a free and fertile and productive society. A society of dissenters, he warns, is on the road to chaos.

RED PARADISE?

"From each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

These witching words of Karl Marx have played a great part in bringing a substantial section of the globe under communist control. Their deceptive music has lulled many into the somnolence that permits an ultimate Red takeover. Once this happens the curtain falls and what occurs under communism is forever hidden. The classless society and equal sharing with which communism entices the unthinking have never existed and never will.

One of the few glimpses of communism at work is afforded by the unexpected clash between the U.S.S.R. and the suddenly inwardly-rent Red China. As Moscow admits and protests Red Guard mistreatment of Russian diplomats and their families, what is behind the Peiping curtain becomes visible. The power struggle between Chinese Communist factions boils down to a battle for the best things of Red Chinese life. The young order wants what the old order has, which is certainly not to share in equal sharing.

Our U.S. leftist - leaners, accept the Marxist pet phrase as accurate. Red China presents a different lesson. The shift to communism is invariably a change for the worse. Throughout its history communism has been an autocracy of the elite against the true interests of the many, who are powerless to resist. Those few in time must give way to another group of a few elite tyrants who take over.

Communism never admits an intra - party struggle. Always the dissidents are "reactionaries" who have deserted communist principles. This is the public story, whichever side wins. The leftist idealist who foresees in a shift to communism a Red paradise for all can always be sure of what he will get in the end: remorse, regret and tears. H.L.H.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: LBJ is disappointed with his dealings with Russia; they echo the same line; however, his patience pays off.

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson has complained to friends that his dealings with the Kremlin have been disappointing, at times exasperating. He can't get the cooperation he had hoped for, finds it frustrating not to be able to deal directly with the real boss, Leonid Brezhnev, secretary of the communist party.

At Glassboro, the President found that Kosygin was unable to deviate from the instructions he had received in Moscow. To illustrate, LBJ told the story of a Texas farmer from the hill country who took his ten sons into town to buy new suits.

First he bought a blue serge suit for himself. Then the storekeeper asked the oldest boy what kind of a suit he wanted.

"Blue serge," was the answer.

He asked the second son.

"Blue serge," was the answer.

He asked the third son.

"Blue serge," was the answer.

The President continued calling the roll of the ten sons. All echoed their father's words, "Blue Serge."

That's the way Kosygin's answers were, he said, always the same.

Despite this, Johnson came away from the Glassboro talks confident that the Kremlin was ready to push ahead with a treat to stop the spread of nuclear weapons and an agreement limiting the production of anti-ballistic missiles. He was disappointed. Negotiations on both broke down.

Then out of the blue this month, the Kremlin casually agreed to a nuclear non-proliferation treaty. This is now a firm pact between the two top nuclear powers, and the President plans to push ratification in the senate. He has been advised against this by his political friends. They tell him that the hawks and the Soviet critics will block the treaty, especially following the Pueblo incident. However, he feels that stopping the spread of nuclear weapons and cooperation with the Soviet are so important that he is going to make the fight.

INSIDE THE KREMLIN

Lyndon Johnson is a President who studies the intelligence reports carefully. He takes them upstairs to read in bed, sometimes goes over them until after midnight.

These reports tell of a split inside the Kremlin over cooperation with the United States. It's a hangover from Khrushchev's day when he was considered too pro-American and was finally kicked out.

Behind this hardening attitude is the forbidding figure of Mikhail Suslov, mystery man of the Politburo, who would like to force an American backdown around the world.

Inside the Kremlin his voice has been the most strident against easing tensions in Korea or settling the war in Vietnam. He has pressed to build up North Vietnam's military power and to obstruct the United States wherever possible.

Suslov is determined to restore communist unity, which, he believes, can best be achieved by uniting all communist countries against a common enemy--the United States.

Intelligence reports describe Suslov as a communist fanatic and anti-American zealot. He is an ascetic, humorless person with simple tastes and personal integrity. He apparently has no interest in the trappings of power, only the exercise of power.

He has a streak of Stalin in him that makes him both cunning and ruthless. A master of intrugue, he engineered the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev. Only Suslov's extremism, which worried his Kremlin colleagues, prevented him from taking over Khrushchev's power. Sensing the unspoken fear of another Stalin, Suslov had the shrewd judgment to push Leonid Brezhnev ahead as the new party boss.

The moderate faction, which had favored Khrushchev's more cautious coexistence policies, installed Alexei Kosygin as Premier. But Suslov quietly consolidated his power inside the Politburo and brought pressure to bear on Brezhnev, who usually has gone along with the hand line. As Suslov has gained, Kosygin has slipped in power. One setback came when the United States bombed North Vietnam on Feb. 7, 1965, one day after Kosygin arrived in Hanoi to try to get the North Vietnamese to the peace table. This seriously undermined him with colleagues in the Kremlin.

Unfortunately, Kosygin is more technician than tactician. He has always been more interested in administering than in making policy. Thus, Kosygin's pragmatic advice usually has lost out to Suslov's fervent appeals.

The sour Suslov suffered one setback when his eagerness to unleash dictator Nasser against Israel backfired in the Middle East last June. This has made the Kremlin somewhat more cautious of Suslov's aggressiveness. Yet he appears to have recovered his influence without serious impairment.

Ominously for the United States, Suslov has been infecting the younger members of the Politburo. Men like Kirill Mazurov, Dmitry Polyansky and Alexander Shelepin, who ultimately will take over control from the older members, are Suslov disciples.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

When you see a car driven by an individual whose actions make you suspicious take down the license number.

That's the suggestion of Deputy Sheriff Eddie Michael of Scott county.

Michael says that in the apprehension of Will Roy Bollinger, 26, of Bell City, charged with the $23,890 holdup of the State Bank of Puxico, the ability of witnesses to recall the license number of Bollinger's car played an important role in his capture. Bollinger was arrested less than 24 hours after the stickup.

In this instance the license plate number was of greater significance than a description of the car due to circumstances.

This might not always be the case.

So the best advice probably would be to remember everything possible about any individual whose conduct arouses your suspicion. These would include a careful look at the individual, how he is dressed, height, weight and approximate age, habits and conduct; his automobile, color, make, type, and the license number or numbers.

Under the law as interpreted by the United States supreme court, peace officers need all the help they can get from citizens in obtaining evidence.

The more criminals who are imprisoned the better it will be for the law abiding citizens, who are in the majority.

The survival of many of us may depend on bringing them to justice.

It used to be that you went out and bought tires for your car. Period.

Later on, you could choose between white- or blackwalls, and you had to buy the right size for your car.

Still later, you could buy rayon cord tires; then nylon, and finally polyester, fiberglass or or even steel cord tires.

Tire manufacturers in this country have recently come out with other offerings that can further confuse your choice as to what type of tires to buy. There is one manufacturer, for instance, which offers the added safety feature of a reflective coating on the sidewalls, similar to that which is used on traffic signs to make them more visible at night, and which is being used in auto striping as both a decorative and safety item.

Two of the most important offerings on the tire scene concern the basic design of the tire itself. These new tires are called radials and wide-treads, or "wide-ovals".

The latter is a wider, "squatter" version of the conventional bias tire, with a ply rating. It has almost two inches more width in its "footprint," and it takes its name from the fact that a cross-section view appears oval-like.

Although primarily a styling item to increase sales, the tires do offer somewhat better traction, high-speed performance, cornering ability and treadwear, and sell for about 30 per cent more.

Conventional tires have layers of cords that run diagnoally at right angles to each other from rim-bead to rim-bead. Radial-ply tires feature another cord layer(s) running straight across the bottom of the tire from bead to bead. This gives the tire a longer "footprint," which does not distort in the middle as in conventional tires.

This offers the following advantages: 50 to 100 per cent longer tread life; better skid and traction performance; improved fuel mileage; better ride at high speeds, and more resistance to puncture and road hazards.

A few disadvantages, too: Low-speed harshness and noise; "odd" steering characteristics at medium speeds; 30 per cent higher price than conventional tires.

Wide-treads and radials should be purchased in complete sets, as they don't mix well on the same vehicle with convention tires. They should NEVER be mixed with conventionals on the same axle.

THOSE SHOCKING POSTCARDS

Since our nation was founded, there have been many who have argued for government ownership and operation of many types of business. Their primary argument has been that a governmental enterprise can do a job more economically than private industry and, therefore, can serve the public better.

One specific case effectively refutes this argument.

Sixty years ago, the Edison Light and Power Company supplied electricity to its customers in Kansas at the rate of 50 cents per kilowatt hour. It cost Edison one cent to send out its monthly bills on the back of a postcard.

Today, Edison supplies its customers electric power at the rate of two cents per kilowatt hour, but the postage rate for a postcard has risen to four cents. This amounts to a 400 per cent increase in the postage rate.

An average American home, if fully electrified, uses about 24,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a year. Sixty years ago, this would have cost a home owner $12,000 a year. Today, it costs him $480 a year. But if the Edison Company had run its business no more efficiently than the Post Office Department, the bill would be $48,000 today.

The basis for the growth in our economic system of personal enterprise is the profit motive system. It is also interesting to compare government business with private industry in this area. While the Post Office Department has accumulated a deficit of $10 billion, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., accumulated $22 billion in profit and its rates are firmly regulated by the government.

GERANIUMS IN THE WINDOW

The human heart has always hungered for color. Pioneers and colonials dug colored ochre from the soil, mixed it with linseed oil and buttermilk, and made yellow and red paint for barns and houses, kitchen floors and stippled ceilings. Housewives used barks and herbs for dyeing, and made red cloth for kitchen tables and bright colors for their patchwork quilts.

A farm kitchen, circa 1910, had familiar hues. But of them all, perhaps those that were most meaningful were the colors of the geraniums that blossomed in kitchen windows. Research does not reveal when the first species was taken from its wild haunt to furnish beauty in a home.

There are 11 genera of the geranium family, of which three are domesticated.

There are some 230 wild species and an unknown number of hybrids. The native home of most wild species is Africa. There are varieties with pleasant fragrance; there are single petal, semi-double and double varieties. Some of the names are appealing. Twin Fires, Afterglow, Olimpic Red, Pigmy, Dixie, Hills of Snow, Happy Thought and Jubilee.

Half a century ago housewives were proud of vigorous plants with glossy green leaves and blossoms that offered beauty in the winter. Fields were white with snow, and felt leggings hung on a line behind the range. The cheerful color of the blossoms in the south windows of the kitchen gave a lift to the heart during the long winter stretch.

It is a humble house plant that has come to have deep meaning on Memorial Day when glowing red blossoms are a tribute to those who have gone. But since our nation's early days, it has also brought cheer to the living.

On lonely farms and ranches when the long time of cold and deep snow was on the land, geraniums in the windows have been banners that helped keep courage high and satisfied a hunger in the heart.

EDITORS LOOK AT THE RAILROADS

Every so often the Association of American Railroads analyzes newspaper editorials on railroad topics appearing in American newspapers. The latest of these analyses covers 971 editorials which came from 48 states and the District of Columbia and were printed during the second quarter of the year.

A very wide spectrum was covered in these editorial discussions. And the striking fact revealed is that editors are unanimous or virtually so in believing that the railroads are essential to the nation; that they must remain under private ownership; that they are in a serious financial condition; that they are overregulated or that regulation is outmoded; that they are unfairly taxed; that they should have greater freedom to make competitive rates; that Congress should take further action to correct inequities in transportation policy; that "featherbedding" or make-work rules should be eliminated, nd so on.

Editors do not hold views such as these out of any special interest in the railroad industry per se. They hold them because they know that the nation's economic health and national security alike require a dynamic, progressive railroad network. The other carriers provide essential services. But only the railroads can transport anything moveable anywhere at any time. They are the basic, irreplaceable form of transportation, and no other can take their place.

The interminable and destructive delays in dealing with transportation problems that can only be solved by governmental action cannot be countenanced much longer. The railroads have done wonders in improving their services under unfair and unfavorable conditions. How much more they could do if given the chance!

The old maid entered, sat down and looked around. Nearby she saw a big circle of women, their hands joined. She watched as one of the women walked outside the circle. Then she stopped, kicked one one of the women on the seat, and took her place in the circle where the kicked woman dropped out.

The woman who had dropped out repeated the performance, kicking another woman in the circle. This went on for some time. Finally, the old maid called to St. Peter: "What is that game those women are playing?"

NEW, HARD LOOK AT THE DISSENTERS

The right to dissent, we are repeatedly told today, is one of the fundamental strengths of a democracy.

If so, democracy should be flourishing in America, for more and more people are flinging up banners of dissent--dissent from the war in Vietnam, from the conventional morality, from the way the government, the cities, the schools, the churches are run.

In the opinion of one noted historian, however, dissent is not the great strength but the great problem of America today.

The trouble, says Daniel J. Boorstin of the University of Chicago, is our failure to make a distinction between dissent and disagreement.

Dissent, he says, means originally to feel apart from others. Disagreement produces debate, but dissent produces dissension.

"People who disagree have an argument, but people who dissent have a quarrel. People may disagree but both may count themselves in the majority, but a person who dissents is by definition in a minority.

"A liberal society thrives on disagreement but is killed by dissension. Disagreement is the lifeblood of democracy; dissension is its cancer."

A sniper's bullet is an eloquent expression of dissent, he says. It doesn't express disagreement. It is simply formless, inarticulate, unproductive.

There is another expression of dissent that might be cited. Though not so eloquent as a sniper's bullet, it is even more frightening because of its seductive appeal to youth. It is the philosophy of "drop out, turn on and tune in" -- the withdrawal from the stresses and demands of life to contemplate the drug-induced phantasmagoria of one's own mind.

The hippie does not just disagree with the values of society (some of which certainly need disagreeing with), nor does he desire to change them. He wants no part of that society at all. But in the psychedelic subsociety he flees to, he becomes the greatest conformist of all.

It is worth noting, says Boorstin, that some of the greatest American champions of the right to disagree--Thomas Jefferson, Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr. and others--were also great believers in the duty of the community to be peacefully governed by the will of the majority.

Professional dissenters do not seek to assimilate their ideas or ideals into American culture, he charges. Their main object is to preserve their separate identity as a dissenting group. They are not interested in anybody's freedom but their own.

The spirit of dissent stalks our land, says Boorstin. All over the country more and more people are quarreling over more and more subjects and fewer and fewer people are debating.

A society of disagreers is a free and fertile and productive society. A society of dissenters, he warns, is on the road to chaos.

Hippie: "What shoes?"

On my visits to the Santa Anita racetrack, I noticed there were mostly two kinds of birds there: a few swallows, but mostly just us pigeons.

VITAL MATTER

RELIGION CLASS THEME: The End of the World. The pastor discussed it in great detail. "Thunder will roll, lightning will jerk, flames will shoot out of the earth, the dead will rise-" The children listened expectantly. Finally one asked the big question:

"Pastor, will. . .will we get out of school?"

H.L. Hunt Says

RED PARADISE?

"From each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

These witching words of Karl Marx have played a great part in bringing a substantial section of the globe under communist control. Their deceptive music has lulled many into the somnolence that permits an ultimate Red takeover. Once this happens the curtain falls and what occurs under communism is forever hidden. The classless society and equal sharing with which communism entices the unthinking have never existed and never will.

One of the few glimpses of communism at work is afforded by the unexpected clash between the U.S.S.R. and the suddenly inwardly-rent Red China. As Moscow admits and protests Red Guard mistreatment of Russian diplomats and their families, what is behind the Peiping curtain becomes visible. The power struggle between Chinese Communist factions boils down to a battle for the best things of Red Chinese life. The young order wants what the old order has, which is certainly not to share in equal sharing.

Our U.S. leftist - leaners, accept the Marxist pet phrase as accurate. Red China presents a different lesson. The shift to communism is invariably a change for the worse. Throughout its history communism has been an autocracy of the elite against the true interests of the many, who are powerless to resist. Those few in time must give way to another group of a few elite tyrants who take over.

Communism never admits an intra - party struggle. Always the dissidents are "reactionaries" who have deserted communist principles. This is the public story, whichever side wins. The leftist idealist who foresees in a shift to communism a Red paradise for all can always be sure of what he will get in the end: remorse, regret and tears. H.L.H.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: LBJ is disappointed with his dealings with Russia; they echo the same line; however, his patience pays off.

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson has complained to friends that his dealings with the Kremlin have been disappointing, at times exasperating. He can't get the cooperation he had hoped for, finds it frustrating not to be able to deal directly with the real boss, Leonid Brezhnev, secretary of the communist party.

At Glassboro, the President found that Kosygin was unable to deviate from the instructions he had received in Moscow. To illustrate, LBJ told the story of a Texas farmer from the hill country who took his ten sons into town to buy new suits.

First he bought a blue serge suit for himself. Then the storekeeper asked the oldest boy what kind of a suit he wanted.

"Blue serge," was the answer. He asked the second son.

"Blue serge," was the answer. He asked the third son.

"Blue serge," was the answer.

The President continued calling the roll of the ten sons. All echoed their father's words, "Blue Serge."

That's the way Kosygin's answers were, he said, always the same.

Despite this, Johnson came away from the Glassboro talks confident that the Kremlin was ready to push ahead with a treat to stop the spread of nuclear weapons and an agreement limiting the production of anti-ballistic missiles. He was disappointed. Negotiations on both broke down.

Then out of the blue this month, the Kremlin casually agreed to a nuclear non-proliferation treaty. This is now a firm pact between the two top nuclear powers, and the President plans to push ratification in the senate. He has been advised against this by his political friends. They tell him that the hawks and the Soviet critics will block the treaty, especially following the Pueblo incident. However, he feels that stopping the spread of nuclear weapons and cooperation with the Soviet are so important that he is going to make the fight.

INSIDE THE KREMLIN

Lyndon Johnson is a President who studies the intelligence reports carefully. He takes them upstairs to read in bed, sometimes goes over them until after midnight.

These reports tell of a split inside the Kremlin over cooperation with the United States. It's a hangover from Khrushchev's day when he was considered too pro-American and was finally kicked out.

Behind this hardening attitude is the forbidding figure of Mikhail Suslov, mystery man of the Politburo, who would like to force an American backdown around the world.

Inside the Kremlin his voice has been the most strident against easing tensions in Korea or settling the war in Vietnam. He has pressed to build up North Vietnam's military power and to obstruct the United States wherever possible.

Suslov is determined to restore communist unity, which, he believes, can best be achieved by uniting all communist countries against a common enemy--the United States.

Intelligence reports describe Suslov as a communist fanatic and anti-American zealot. He is an ascetic, humorless person with simple tastes and personal integrity. He apparently has no interest in the trappings of power, only the exercise of power.

He has a streak of Stalin in him that makes him both cunning and ruthless. A master of intrugue, he engineered the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev. Only Suslov's extremism, which worried his Kremlin colleagues, prevented him from taking over Khrushchev's power. Sensing the unspoken fear of another Stalin, Suslov had the shrewd judgment to push Leonid Brezhnev ahead as the new party boss.

The moderate faction, which had favored Khrushchev's more cautious coexistence policies, installed Alexei Kosygin as Premier. But Suslov quietly consolidated his power inside the Politburo and brought pressure to bear on Brezhnev, who usually has gone along with the hand line. As Suslov has gained, Kosygin has slipped in power. One setback came when the United States bombed North Vietnam on Feb. 7, 1965, one day after Kosygin arrived in Hanoi to try to get the North Vietnamese to the peace table. This seriously undermined him with colleagues in the Kremlin.

Unfortunately, Kosygin is more technician than tactician. He has always been more interested in administering than in making policy. Thus, Kosygin's pragmatic advice usually has lost out to Suslov's fervent appeals.

The sour Suslov suffered one setback when his eagerness to unleash dictator Nasser against Israel backfired in the Middle East last June. This has made the Kremlin somewhat more cautious of Suslov's aggressiveness. Yet he appears to have recovered his influence without serious impairment.

Ominously for the United States, Suslov has been infecting the younger members of the Politburo. Men like Kiril Mazurov, Dmitry Polyansky and Alexander Shelepin, who ultimately will take over control from the older members, are Suslov disciples.

The Christ Ambassadors youth organization of the First Assembly of God church held a service of installation Sunday evening. This service was for the newly-elected officers of the youth group. Re-elected president was Mrs. Bob Ballard; vice president, Mrs. Edna McKown; secretary, Miss Diane Hull; and treasurer, Mrs. Harley Bixler.

Mrs. T. A. McDonough, counselor of the C. A.'s, was in charge of the installation ceremony.

Each officer was given a pledge of office. The president, Mrs. Ballard, was presented a gavel and a corsage of white carnations symbolizing purity and serenity. Mrs. McKown, vice president, was given a Bible and a red carnation corsage which stood for courage and enthusiasm. The newly elected secretary, Miss Hull, was given a secretary's record book and a carnation corsage of blue which stood for truth, Mrs. Bixler, treasurer, was given a money bag and corsage of purple which was symbolic of the royal example of Christ.

Mrs. McDonough challenged the entire group to co-operate with the new officers during the coming year.

At the close of the ceremony Gloria Garrett sang "Give of Your Best To the Master."

The Rev. T. A. McDonough spoke to the youth group on making their lives example of Christ, a pattern to others.

All joined sang "To Be Like Jesus".

Action resumes in the New Madrid county tournament at Matthews tonight with Matthews going against Portageville in the 7 p.m. semifinal opener followed by the Howardville - Gideon clash at 8:30 p.m. Finals will be Friday.

Along with that action, 36 teams pair up at 18 sites Friday night. Three games are set for Saturday night.

Teams to watch in the home stretch will be . . .Class L. . . Charleston. . .Sikeston. . .Poplar Bluff. . .Kennett. . .Class M. . . Oran. . .Matthews. . .Scott Central. . .Notre Dame. . .Richland. . .Neelyville. . .and Doniphan... Class S. . .Howardville. . .Southland. . .Delta . . .Advance. . . Clarkton.

Here are the weekend calls. .. New Madrid County Tourney

Tonight

Matthews vs. Portageville -- When these two meet earlier in the year. . it was Matthews by 30. ..but don't bank on that easy of a game tonight. . .Portageville has been steadily improving. .. Matthews 73, Portageville 57.

Howardville vs. Gideon -- If the Hawks can watch those fouls. . .they're sure to bed down the Bulldogs. . .But. . .fouls have been known to get the Hawks into trouble. . .We look for a Howardville - Matthews clash in the finals. Howardville 75, Gideon 67.

Friday

Sikeston at Dexter -- We need a win here to regain our prestige . . .Dexter has turned us back twice. . .but don't bank on that again you Bearcats. Sikeston 67, Dexter 61.

Cape Central at Poplar Bluff-- The Mules are too fast and have too much defense for the Tigers... Another Southeast Missouri conference triumph for the Mules. Poplar Bluff 78, Cape Central 57.

Scott Central at Kelly --Scott Central has only to hope for the biggest upset of the year as Oran meets Chaffee next Tuesday if it's going to share any of the Scott - Mississippi conference crown. It'll win over Kelly for a 5-1 conference slate and hope for that big one. Scott Central 93, Kelly 63.

Senath at Kennett -- Romp. .. romp. . .romp. That's what it'll be from the first quarter on... The Indians must have thought they were fighting the battle of Little Big Horn in the last meeting. . .because they massacred them. . .It'll be the same way. Kennett 97, Senath 54.

Advance at Jackson --- Too bad the Hornets can't play all their games at home. . they'll run into trouble tonight. Jackson will spring a surprise. Jackson 67, Advance 58.

Oran at Bell City -- The Cubs might give the Eagles a game for at least one quarter. . .but that's all because the Oran quintet has plans of not losing another game. Oran 78, Bell City 61.

St. Henry at East Prairie-- Chalk another win up for the Eagles. . .They'll be tougher next year and watch. . .East Prairie will move into the district picture of powerhouses with a pair of years . .isn't that right coach Fisher? East Prairie 82, St. Henry 58.

Other winners will be Perryville over Valle; Notre Dame beating Woodland; Hayti North over Caruthersville; Qulin edging Broseley; Puxico trimming Fisk; Malden turning back North Pemiscot, Doniphan beating Pocahontas and Delta, Holcomb, Neelyville and Southland winners.

Saturday

Perryville at Kennett --- One might be surprised with the improvement of the Pirates. . .It will not matter, though . . .Kennett will take this Southeast Missouri attraction. Kennett 63, Perryville 59.

Portageville at Campbell --- After taking third place honors in the New Madrid county tournament. . .the Bulldogs will take the Camels easily. Portageville 88, Campbell 67.

Charleston at Scott Central-- This will be a dandy. . .It's about time the Braves suffered a loss to someone other than Oran and Notre Dame. . tonight they'll take one. . .the Bluejays are on the right track. Charleston 82, Scott Central 58.

Frank Edge of Parma won the Beer carrying contest last Sunday. . .sponsored by Hoyt Butler, Claude Keasler, Randall Ramsey and Curt Lape. .. He's not but 65 years old. .. and can he tote that beer. . . around the block.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Ondine, skippered by S. A. Long of Larchmont, N.Y. is one of 33 yachts in the 1,200-mile Buenos Aires to Rio de Janerio ocean race starting Sunday.

Top Ten Teams In Weekend Action

Third ranked Scott County Central will be host at its second top attraction of the week Saturday night when fifth rated Charleston will be on the scene for basketball action.

The Braves dropped a Tuesday night encounter before a jam filled gymnasium to Oran.

All of the top ten teams of this week's poll find weekend action awaiting them. Top-rated Oran meets Bell City Friday. Second ranked Matthews clashes with Portageville tonight and then faces either Howardville-Gideon in the finals or consolation game Friday night.

Sikeston will be at Dexter in a key Southeast Missouri conference game Friday. A Dexter win would give the Poplar Bluff Mules, who go against Cape Girardeau Central's sole possession of the SEMO conference lead which both hold now with 2-0 slates.

Notre Dame, last year's only state tournament finisher, takes on Woodland Friday night. It is rated sixth.

Advance will be at Jackson in a top contest, pitting the Class S powerhouse Hornets against the L Indians.

Roundballers Picked In Football Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a certain giddiness that overtakes pro football people after more than 22 hours spread over two days of drafting the nation's top collegiate players.

The chuckles came in bunches as representatives of the National and American Leagues completed their 17 rounds of drafting Tuesday night.

There was Minnesota scoring a thigh-slapper by picking Larry Kuharich, a defensive back from Boston College, in the 16th round. If that name is familiar, it's because Larry's father, Joe, is the general manager-coach of the rival Philadelphia Eagles.

Cincinnati, utilizing one of its 42 choices, picked Miami's Joe Mira, described as the little brother of George, the San Francisco quarterback. But, of course, lil' Joe, a flanker, stands 6-foot and weighs 185 pounds, somewhat bigger than brother George.

The New York Giants gave club football a huge boost when they selected Ken Parker of Fordham University as a defensive back on the 16th go-round.

Fordham, of course, dropped varsity football some 13 years ago but went back to the sport on a club level a few years back. Parker is the first player to be drafted since the school resumed football.

There is, however, a catch. Parker is a basketball player and not listed on the Fordham football squad.

Dallas delved into the basketball market too, picking West Virginia's Ron Williams in the 14th round and listing him as a defensive back.

The Cowboys also won the distance championship for a pick, selecting tackle Larry Cole of Hawaii in the 16th round. "I'd love the assignment to go down and recruit him," cracked a Dallas official.

There was a predictable late-round squabble when Philadelphia announced the selection of defensive back Jim Scott from Arizona in the 17th round and Cincinnati howled that he was the same player the Bengals had picked in the 11th round as Wally Scott.

A quick check revealed that Jim and Wally were one and the same so the Eagles substituted Joe Forzani, a Utah State linebacker, for the final choice.

Earlier, Buffalo had created a fuss when it announced the selection of Memphis State tackle Chuck De Vleigher in the 13th round, then hurredly withdrew the pick and substituted Dan Darragh, a William and Mary quarterback.

The Bills had learned, almost as soon as they originally announced De Vliegher's choice, that he had a bad knee and was a medical question mark.

When they came right back with him in the next round, one wag remarked, "He must have had an operation between phone calls."

Most of the big names were gone when the teams swung into the final 12 rounds of drafting Tuesday.

Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban of UCLA had been plucked in the second round by Los Angeles after linemen headed by Southern California's Ron Yary and Tennessee's Bob Johnson had dominated the early selections. Minnesota made Yary the No. 1 choice and Cincinnati chose Johnson right after the Vikings opened the draft Monday.

Miami grabbed Kim Hammond, Florida State's quarterback, and sprinter Jimmy Hines, listed as a flanker from Texas Southern Tuesday. Cincinnati took Dewey Warren, Tennessee's quarterback, Cleveland grabbed Notre Dame defensive back Tom Schoen and Detroit picked up Oklahoma linebacker Granville Liggins.

Tuesday's 12 rounds lasted exactly 11 hours, making the two-day total 22 hours, 43 minutes compared to 21:39 last year. A total of 462 players were selected by the 26 pro teams.

Wednesday's 12 rounds lasted exactly 11 hours, making the two-day total 22 hours, 43 minutes compared to 21:39 last year. A total of 462 players were selected by the 26 pro teams.

The following players from the Missouri-Kansas area were selected by teams in the National and American Football League draft which ended late Wednesday:

Russ Washington, Missouri, tackle, San Diego, AFL; Tom Owens, Rolla guard and Richard Cash, Kirksville State tackle, Green Bay, NFL; Sam McDowell, Springfield State tackle, Miami, AFL; Mike St. Louis, Warrensburg State tackle, Washington, NFL; Danny Lankas, Kansas State linebacker, St. Louis, NFL.

Pat Talbert, Springfield State tackle, Kansas City, AFL; John Douglas, Missouri linebacker, and Ben Olison, Kansas flanker, Dallas, NFL; Mike Wempe, Missouri tackle, Cleveland, NFL; and Barry Lischner, Missouri running back, Houston, AFL.

CLASS M

Priory (14-2) seems to be in the drivers seat in St. Louis with Bill Daake (29.4) and Pete Ramey (21.2) leading the way. .. Daake is certain all-stater. . .St. Dominic is 13-5 and Prep South 10-8 against good Class L competitions. Tony Kraus is 27.4 a game and a top all-state candidate.

Notre Dame of Cape Girardeau, Scott Central, Oran and Matthews are the top teams in Southeast Missouri. . . Greg Flaker, all-stater in 1967, tops Notre Dame with 22.5 mark... Notre Dame has split with Scott Central and lost to Oran.. Scott Central has split with Oran.. Matthews is 16-1 losing only to Oran. . .All four teams are in same regional.. Leonard Bishop of Matthews is another good M player. . .

Bolivar and Republic top the Class M entries from the Southwest . . .Bolivar is 15-2, followed by Republic at 16-3.

Licking, Dixon, Iberia, Hermann are tops in Central Missouri with several others close behind. . Licking is 17-3 with all-stater in Dale Stanley (31.4 and 14 rebounds). ..Dixon has 6-6 John Brown (20.5 and 19.1) and are 17-3. . .Iberia has balance and a good defense for 13-5 mark. . .Hermann is young and tough. . .they start four underclassmen and are 17-3. . . 6-4 Huenefeld, a sophomore, is the best scorer at 15.4.

CLASS S

I guess they begin and stop with Bradleyville. . .Eagles are 19-0 at last count. . .David Combs is top player in state in Class S with close to 30 point average. . .Wheaton is also tough in Class S.

Clarkton and Howardsville are top clubs in Southeast part of state.

St. George of Hermann is only real Central Missouri entry although Lincoln Lab and New Haven could surprise. . . Dave Hackmann and Dan Kuebler are 1-2 for St. George. .. Dragons are 17-3 with 10 straight wins. . .Hackman is 6-3 junior and a 20.1 scorer. . Kuebler is a 6-0 jumper and a 17.5 scorer.. . Lincoln Lab can put points on the board. . .They beat Mokane 124-40 with a 40-point fourth period. . .Rich Brune is top player in area for New Haven. . .6-5 with a 24.4 average.

Cubs Top Rams 69-56

BELL CITY -- Coach Edwin Street's Cubs moved their record to 9-9 for the season last night by beating back Ilmo-Scott City, 69-56, after the junior varsity edged the Rams, 44-42. Both were makeup games.

Lee Watson sparked the victory with 20 points and got double figure assistance from three other teammates.

The Cubs with the addition of Rampley and Hasty to the team since the Stoddard county tournament have moved out to wins over these Rams and Bloomfield while falling to Richland and Advance in close contests.

Bell City broke on top with a 17-11 first period lead. It moved out with a 52-36 lead at the end of three periods with a flash of scoring and tough defense in the third period, outscoring the rams 21-7.

Roundballers Picked In Football Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a certain giddiness that overtakes pro football people after more than 22 hours spread over two days of drafting the nation's top collegiate players.

The chuckles came in bunches as representatives of the National and American Leagues completed their 17 rounds of drafting Tuesday night.

There was Minnesota scoring a thigh-slapper by picking Larry Kuharich, a defensive back from Boston College, in the 16th round. If that name is familiar, it's because Larry's father, Joe, is the general manager-coach of the rival Philadelphia Eagles.

Cincinnati, utilizing one of its 42 choices, picked Miami's Joe Mira, described as the little brother of George, the San Francisco quarterback. But, of course, lil' Joe, a flanker, stands 6-foot and weighs 185 pounds, somewhat bigger than brother George.

The New York Giants gave club football a huge boost when they selected Ken Parker of Fordham University as a defensive back on the 16th go-round.

Fordham, of course, dropped varsity football some 13 years ago but went back to the sport on a club level a few years back. Parker is the first player to be drafted since the school resumed football.

There is, however, a catch. Parker is a basketball player and not listed on the Fordham football squad.

Dallas delved into the basketball market too, picking West Virginia's Ron Williams in the 14th round and listing him as a defensive back.

The Cowboys also won the distance championship for a pick, selecting tackle Larry Cole of Hawaii in the 16th round. "I'd love the assignment to go down and recruit him," cracked a Dallas official.

There was a predictable late-round squabble when Philadelphia announced the selection of defensive back Jim Scott from Arizona in the 17th round and Cincinnati howled that he was the same player the Bengals had picked in the 11th round as Wally Scott.

A quick check revealed that Jim and Wally were one and the same so the Eagles substituted Joe Forzani, a Utah State linebacker, for the final choice.

Earlier, Buffalo had created a fuss when it announced the selection of Memphis State tackle Chuck De Vleigher in the 13th round, then hurredly withdrew the pick and substituted Dan Darragh, a William and Mary quarterback.

The Bills had learned, almost as soon as they originally announced De Vlieger's choice, that he had a bad knee and was a medical question mark.

When they came right back with him in the next round, one wag remarked, "He must have had an operation between phone calls."

Most of the big names were gone when the teams swung into the final 12 rounds of drafting Tuesday.

Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban of UCLA had been plucked in the second round by Los Angeles after linemen headed by Southern California's Ron Yary and Tennessee's Bob Johnson had dominated the early selections. Minnesota made Yary the No. 1 choice and Cincinnati chose Johnson right after the Vikings opened the draft Monday.

Miami grabbed Kim Hammond, Florida State's quarterback, and sprinter Jimmy Hines, listed as a flanker from Texas Southern Tuesday. Cincinnati took Dewey Warren, Tennesee's quarterback, Cleveland grabbed Notre Dame defensive back Tom Schoen and Detroit picked up Oklahoma linebacker Granville Liggins.

Tuesday's 12 rounds lasted exactly 11 hours, making the two-day total 22 hours, 43 minutes compared to 21:39 last year. A total of 462 players were selected by the 26 pro teams.

Wednesday's 12 rounds lasted exactly 11 hours, making the two-day total 22 hours, 43 minutes compared to 21:39 last year. A total of 462 players were selected by the 26 pro teams.

The following players from the Missouri-Kansas area were selected by teams in the National and American Football League draft which ended late Wednesday:

Russ Washington, Missouri, tackle, San Diego, AFL; Tom Owens, Rolla guard and Richard Cash, Kirksville State tackle, Green Bay, NFL; Sam McDowell, Springfield State tackle, Miami, AFL; Mike St. Louis, Warrensburg State tackle, Washington, NFL; Danny Lankas, Kansas State linebacker, St. Louis, NFL.

Pat Talbert, Springfield State tackle, Kansas City, AFL; John Douglas, Missouri linebacker, and Ben Olison, Kansas flanker, Dallas, NFL; Mike Wempe, Missouri tackle, Cleveland, NFL; and Barry Lischner, Missouri running back, Houston, AFL.

We picked up two percentage points with a 12 of 15 night of basketball predictions Tuesday, moving out at 81 per cent to 97 correct of 119 calls.

Action resumes in the New Madrid county tournament at Matthews tonight with Matthews going against Portageville in the 7 p.m. semifinal opener followed by the Howardville - Gideon clash at 8:30 p.m. Finals will be Friday.

Along with that action, 36 teams pair up at 18 sites Friday night. Three games are set for Saturday night.

Teams to watch in the home stretch will be . . .Class L. . . Charleston. . .Sikeston. . .Poplar Bluff. . .Kennett. . .Class M. . . Oran. . .Matthews. . .Scott Central. . .Notre Dame. . .Richland. . .Neelyville. . .and Doniphan... Class S. . .Howardville. . .Southland. . .Delta . . .Advance. . . Clarkton.

Here are the weekend calls. .

New Madrid County Tourney
Tonight

Matthews vs. Portageville -- When these two meet earlier in the year. . it was Matthews by 30. ..but don't bank on that easy of a game tonight. . .Portageville has been steadily improving. .. Matthews 73, Portageville 57.

Howardville vs. Gideon -- If the Hawks can watch those fouls. . .they're sure to bed down the Bulldogs. . .But. . .fouls have been known to get the Hawks into trouble. . .We look for a Howardville - Matthews clash in the finals. Howardville 75, Gideon 67.

Friday

Sikeston at Dexter -- We need a win here to regain our prestige . . .Dexter has turned us back twice. . .but don't bank on that again you Bearcats. Sikeston 67, Dexter 61.

Cape Central at Poplar Bluff-- The Mules are too fast and have too much defense for the Tigers... Another Southeast Missouri conference triumph for the Mules. Poplar Bluff 78, Cape Central 57.

Scott Central at Kelly -- Scott Central has only to hope for the biggest upset of the year as Oran meets Chaffee next Tuesday if it's going to share any of the Scott - Mississippi conference crown. It'll win over Kelly for a 5-1 conference slate and hope for that big one. Scott Central 93, Kelly 63.

Senath at Kennett -- Romp. . romp. . .romp. That's what it'll be from the first quarter on... The Indians must have thought they were fighting the battle of Little Big Horn in the last meeting. . .because they massacred them. . .It'll be the same way. Kennett 97, Senath 54.

Advance at Jackson -- Too bad the Hornets can't play all their games at home. . they'll run into trouble tonight. Jackson will spring a surprise. Jackson 67, Advance 58.

Oran at Bell City -- The Cubs might give the Eagles a game for at least one quarter. . .but that's all because the Oran quintet has plans of not losing another game. Oran 78, Bell City 61.

St. Henry at East Prairie-- Chalk another win up for the Eagles. . .They'll be tougher next year and watch. . .East Prairie will move into the district picture of powerhouses with a pair of years . .Isn't that right coach Fisher? East Prairie 82, St. Henry 58.

Other winners will be Perryville over Valle; Notre Dame beating Woodland; Hayti North over Caruthersville; Qulin edging Broseley; Puxico trimming Fisk; Malden turning back North Pemiscot, Doniphan beating Pocahontas and Delta, Holcomb, Neelyville and Southland winners.

Saturday

Perryville at Kennett -- One might be surprised with the improvement of the Pirates. . .It will not matter, though . . .Kennett will take this Southeast Missouri attraction. Kennett 63, Perryville 59.

Portageville at Campbell -- After taking third place honors in the New Madrid county tournament. . .the Bulldogs will take the Camels easily. Portageville 88, Campbell 67.

Charleston at Scott Central-- This will be a dandy. . .It's about time the Braves suffered a loss to someone other than Oran and Notre Dame. . tonight they'll take one. . .the Bluejays are on the right track. Charleston 82, Scott Central 58.

Frank Edge of Parma won the Beer carrying contest last Sunday. . .sponsored by Hoyt Butler, Claude Keasler, Randall Ramsey and Curt Lape. .. He's not but 65 years old. .. and can he tote that beer. . . around the block.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Ondine, skippered by S. A. Long of Larchmont, N.Y. is one of 33 yachts in the 1,200-mile Buenos Aires to Rio de Janerio ocean race starting Sunday.

Top Ten Teams In Weekend Action

Third ranked Scott County Central will be host at its second top attraction of the week Saturday night when fifth rated Charleston will be on the scene for basketball action.

The Braves dropped a Tuesday night encounter before a jam filled gymnasium to Oran.

All of the top ten teams of this week's poll find weekend action awaiting them. Top-rated Oran meets Bell City Friday. Second ranked Matthews clashes with Portageville tonight and then faces either Howardville-Gideon in the finals or consolation game Friday night.

Sikeston will be at Dexter in a key Southeast Missouri conference game Friday. A Dexter win would give the Poplar Bluff Mules, who go against Cape Girardeau Central's sole possession of the SEMO conference lead which both hold now with 2-0 slates.

Notre Dame, last year's only state tournament finisher, takes on Woodland Friday night. It is rated sixth.

Advance will be at Jackson in a top contest, pitting the Class S powerhouse Hornets against the L Indians.

The schedule:

Tonight
New Madrid County Tourney at Matthews
Matthews vs. Portageville (7:00)
Howardville vs. Gideon (8:30)

Friday

Traffic Offenses Dominate Docket

NEW MADRID - Judge Erle Wright heard these cases in magistrate court:

Three persons were charged with speeding. Isaac Duncan Jr. was fined a total of $60, Donald J. Hall paid $20 and Thomas L. Brothers $15.

David Paul Robinson, charged with careless and reckless driving, following too closely, and improper registration, was fined a total of $16.

Charged with having no operator's license, Wilburn M. Brown paid $15.

B. and W. Transports, charged with operating vehicle overweight 550 pounds, paid a total of $22.-50. Easterly Produce paid $27.50 for operating vehicle overweight 650 pounds.

Charged with improper registration, Diamond Transport paid a total of $15.

William Cleatus Hamilton, charged with careless and reckless driving, was fined a total of $45.

W. S. Dean paid a total of $11 on a charge of having no muffler.

A charge of having no muffler and careless and reckless driving cost Jerry Lee Barham $21.

Charged with driving while intoxicated, Willie Heath was fined a total of $120, given six months in jail and put on probation with driver's license revoked for one year.

Silvia Little, charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $21, fine and costs stayed, sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Paul Miller and Harry Nolan, charged with petit larceny, were fined a total of $31, given six months in jail and put on probation for one year.

Gary Stroud, charged with burglary and larceny, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to circuit court with bond set at $1,000.

Soldier Who Had Shell in Abdomen Arrives in U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ten days ago, Pfc. Robert J. Mussari was crouched in a bunker near Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, when the fuse of an 82mm mortar shell lodged in his abdomen.

"There was no pain—just pressure," the 19-year-old Mussari recalled Tuesday from his bed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Corpsmen took Mussari into a bunker with sandbags around it and, in a tense operation illuminated by four flashlights a doctor, Lt. Edward Feldman, 26, of Forest Hills, N.Y., removed the fuse, which could have exploded at any minute.

Mussari was brought to the hospital here Tuesday and was greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mussari, of Olyphant, Pa., and his girl friend, Sheryl Taylor, 18, also of Olyphant.

On his arrival at the hospital, Mussari said he would be willing to return to Vietnam or go even to Korea if hostilities erupted there.

"I'd do anything they want me to do," he said.

Bess Truman Club Meets

NEW MADRID - The New Madrid County Bess Truman Club met Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at Rosie's Colonial restaurant for luncheon and regular meeting. Twenty-one attended.

Mrs. Mildred Wilkins, chaplain, gave a devotional. Mrs. Georgia Hennings, president, presided.

Plans were made for members to attend the Jackson Day activities in March at Springfield.

A membership drive is being conducted. Each member will bring a guest to the next meeting.

Members voted to hold a white donkey sale at the Feb. 22 meeting.

Students to Fight Haircut Edict in Court

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Boys suspended from Brien McMahon high school for letting their hair hang over their eyes, ears or collars have enlisted the aid of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Burton Weinstein, a volunteer lawyer from the Fairfield County ACLU chapter, said Tuesday he has agreed to represent in court four of the boys at first and probably more later.

Most of the 53 students suspended from school for the length of their hair defied a "cut-your-hair" order. A dozen cut their hair and returned to school Tuesday.

About 10 parents of students suspended for wearing their hair long appeared Tuesday night at a School Board meeting but were not allowed to discuss their position.

Some students picketed the school Tuesday, carrying such signs as "Does Society Hang by a Hair?" and "Jesus, Shakespeare, Washington and Lincoln wore long hair. Who should we look up to?"

But many sided with Principal Luther A. Howard, who visited every classroom Monday, deadline for lock-lopping, and suspended 53 boys whose hair covered their eyes, ears or collars. The school has 1,700 pupils.

Asistant Defense Secretary Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solis Horwitz, assistant secretary of defense, has resigned to become a professor at his alma mater, the University of Pittsburgh.

Horwitz became Tuesday the first top-level Pentagon official to follow the pending departure of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

A congressional aide for a decade, Horwitz moved from Capitol Hill to the Pentagon under McNamara at the start of the Kennedy administration and helped draw up the blueprints for reorganization within the Defense Department.

Garcia Fund Custodian Seeks Court Help In Distribution

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The custodian of the Primitivo Garcia fund, swelled to $15,198 by contributions from admirers of the young Mexican immigrant's act of bravery which cost him his life, filed suit Tuesday to determine how it should be distributed.

Garcia, 23, was shot while defending his naturalization teacher from a gang of hoodlums and died last Nov. 28. Charges have been filed against seven youths in the case.

Mrs. Helen Dow, originator of the fund and its trustee, brought the friendly suit in Jackson County Circuit Court to clear herself of any liability.

Complicating distribution is the fact that Garcia died during the fund's collection, and that no one has been named executor of his estate.

Mrs. Dow lists expenditures as $532, for ambulance service, and for bringing a brother from Mexico and a sister from Los Angeles to attend Garcia's funeral.

Servicemen's Wives Receive Envelopes With Letters Missing

SALINA, Kan. (AP)— A postal employe has been suspended at the San Francisco Overseas Mail Facility as a result of a batch of empty envelopes received in Salina.

Letters in the envelopes addressed to 14 wives of servicemen abroad were missing. The women live at Schilling Manor, a Salina housing project for dependents of military personnel on overseas duty.

Accompanying the envelopes was a note informing the wives the mail had been rifled. The postal inspector's office in Salina said the mail had been postmarked Jan. 15, 1968.

Inspectors at San Francisco said it was difficult to determine what had been stolen from the mail. The case has been referred to the U.S. attorney's office there for possible action.

Wanted List Nabs Traffic Violators

CHICAGO (AP) — The slender fashion model plucked the parking ticket from the windshield of her Cadillac and tossed it on the front seat.

Ho hum. It was the 65th time she had done it.

And then she became a member of the 10 most wanted—chronic traffic violators.

Chicago has borrowed a technique from the FBI to help crack down on chronic traffic violators who ignore their fines. A list of the "10 most wanted parking violators" is compiled and made public with arrest warrants issued.

Any patrolman would have coveted an assignment to track down the shapely model scofflaw but it was a computer that got the goods on her and 150 other drivers who failed to pay for multiple parking violations in 1966.

The model, 23, slipped 65 tickets under the visor, in the glove compartment or into the gutter in 1966. For that, Judge Raymond Berg slipped her a fine of $975.

Chicago policemen issue two million parking tickets a year. At $10 a copy this is big business. A few years ago, however, the city noticed that collections weren't so good because drivers were ignoring the yellow envelopes tucked under their windshield wipers.

Irwin Cohen, assistant city attorney, explained how the electronic investigator got its start.

"The idea was born in 1965," Cohen said. "Judge Felix Buoscio, chief of the traffic division of Circuit Court, realized that manpower couldn't handle the volume of work, sorting out tickets and pinpointing the violators by checking registration of license plantes."

The computer was purchased in 1965. Like any police rookie, it wasn't a perfect sleuth.

"It had some bugs," Cohen said. "It didn't fully mature until programming difficulties were resolved late in 1966."

Once the computer was set up to record the parking tickets issued and tied in with the secretary of state's records of license plate registrations, it was only a matter of time before the first "10 most wanted" list appeared in Chicago newspapers.

"We put out warrants for 110 arrests," Cohen said. "About 10 persons have come in voluntarily and 30 persons served with warrants have appeared in court and have been fined."

The first 150 offenders tagged by the computer had more than 40 tickets each for 1966. After this batch is disposed of, the computer will continue until every parking ticket is matched with the car owner.

Few of the violators have paid in full. Judge Berg accepts a partial payment and sets up an installment plan payment schedule.

"If they come in voluntarily," Cohen said, "we try to give them as much of a break as possible. Once a warrant has been issued for their arrest, then we ask at least $15 a ticket to cover the additional expense."

Business has been booming since the first of the "most wanted" lists was published, Cohen said. "Our traffic department payment office has been swamped by people who know now that they have to pay parking tickets or get caught by the computer."

Cohen said that drivers license numbers, which are now required with license plate applications in Illinois, will soon be fed to the computer. In the future, a policeman can check any driver he stops to learn if parking violations are on the motorist's record.

The computer is also linked with the police department's criminal records computer for quick checking of various records.

Good Year Expected by Shoe Company

POPLAR BLUFF - In a letter to Harlo J. Dunn, executive vice president of the Greater Poplar Bluff Area Chamber of Commerce, S. Friendland, treasurer of the Florsheim Shoe Company stated.

"This is to inform you that for the year ending Dec. 31, 1967, the combined payrolls of the International Shoe and Florsheim divisions amounted to $909,026.00."

"This is a reduction from the year 1966 when the payroll amounted to $1,207,988.00," Mr. Friendland stated, but called our attention to the fact that there was a shut-down in production during the time International Shoe ceased operations and Florsheif took over.

In addition, he said, "production schedules were not in full force for sometime after Florsheim occupied the plant."

Good news was contained in his final statement which said, "We feel that the full year of 1968 will equal or surpass the payroll in 1966."

The prompt action by the Chamber of Commerce in negotiating with the Florsheim Shoe Company to occupy the Poplar Bluff plant has saved this million dollar payroll with employment for more than 300 people.

Tools Taken From Farm Shed

HORNERSVILLE -- Jack Wilkins, who lives on a farm near here, reported to the Dunklin County Sheriff's office that tools had been taken from his tool shed over the weekend.

Deputy Sheriff Juston Huggins reported that he had investigated and found that the burglar had stolen a chain saw, one electric saw, one electric drill and about 50 feet of electric cord.

Wanted List Nabs Traffic Violators

CHICAGO (AP) — The slender fashion model plucked the parking ticket from the windshield of her Cadillac and tossed it on the front seat.

Ho hum. It was the 65th time she had done it.

And then she became a member of the 10 most wanted—chronic traffic violators.

Chicago has borrowed a technique from the FBI to help crack down on chronic traffic violators who ignore their fines. A list of the "10 most wanted parking violators" is compiled and made public with arrest warrants issued.

Any patrolman would have coveted an assignment to track down the shapely model scofflaw but it was a computer that got the goods on her and 150 other drivers who failed to pay for multiple parking violations in 1966.

The model, 23, slipped 65 tickets under the visor, in the glove compartment or into the gutter in 1966. For that, Judge Raymond Berg slipped her a fine of $975.

Chicago policemen issue two million parking tickets a year. At $10 a copy this is big business. A few years ago, however, the city noticed that collections weren't so good because drivers were ignoring the yellow envelopes tucked under their windshield wipers.

Irwin Cohen, assistant city attorney, explained how the electronic investigator got its start.

"The idea was born in 1965," Cohen said. "Judge Felix Buoscio, chief of the traffic division of Circuit Court, realized that manpower couldn't handle the volume of work, sorting out tickets and pinpointing the violators by checking registration of license plantes."

The computer was purchased in 1965. Like any police rookie, it wasn't a perfect sleuth.

"It had some bugs," Cohen said. "It didn't fully mature until programming difficulties were resolved late in 1966."

Once the computer was set up to record the parking tickets issued and tied in with the secretary of state's records of license plate registrations, it was only a matter of time before the first "10 most wanted" list appeared in Chicago newspapers.

"We put out warrants for 110 arrests," Cohen said. "About 10 persons have come in voluntarily and 30 persons served with warrants have appeared in court and have been fined."

The first 150 offenders tagged by the computer had more than 40 tickets each for 1966. After this batch is disposed of, the computer will continue until every parking ticket is matched with the car owner.

Few of the violators have paid in full. Judge Berg accepts a partial payment and sets up an installment plan payment schedule.

"If they come in voluntarily," Cohen said, "we try to give them as much of a break as possible. Once a warrant has been issued for their arrest, then we ask at least $15 a ticket to cover the additional expense."

Business has been booming since the first of the "most wanted" lists was published, Cohen said. "Our traffic department payment office has been swamped by people who know now that they have to pay parking tickets or get caught by the computer."

Cohen said that drivers license numbers, which are now required with license plate applications in Illinois, will soon be fed to the computer. In the future, a policeman can check any driver he stops to learn if parking violations are on the motorist's record.

The computer is also linked with the police department's criminal records computer for quick checking of various records.

Good Year Expected by Shoe Company

POPLAR BLUFF - In a letter to Harlo J. Dunn, executive vice president of the Greater Poplar Bluff Area Chamber of Commerce, S. Friendland, treasurer of the Florsheim Shoe Company stated.

"This is to inform you that for the year ending Dec. 31, 1967, the combined payrolls of the International Shoe and Florsheim divisions amounted to $909,026.00."

"This is a reduction from the year 1966 when the payroll amounted to $1,207,988.00," Mr. Friendland stated, but called our attention to the fact that there was a shut-down in production during the time International Shoe ceased operations and Florsheif took over.

In addition, he said, "production schedules were not in full force for sometime after Florsheim occupied the plant."

Good news was contained in his final statement which said, "We feel that the full year of 1968 will equal or surpass the payroll in 1966."

The prompt action by the Chamber of Commerce in negotiating with the Florsheim Shoe Company to occupy the Poplar Bluff plant has saved this million dollar payroll with employment for more than 300 people.

Tools Taken From Farm Shed

HORNERSVILLE -- Jack Wilkins, who lives on a farm near here, reported to the Dunklin County Sheriff's office that tools had been taken from his tool shed over the weekend.

Deputy Sheriff Juston Huggins reported that he had investigated and found that the burglar had stolen a chain saw, one electric saw, one electric drill and about 50 feet of electric cord.

Traffic Offenses Dominate Docket

NEW MADRID - Judge Erie Wright heard these cases in magistrate court:

Three persons were charged with speeding. Isaac Duncan Jr. was fined a total of $60, Donald J. Hall paid $20 and Thomas L. Brothers $15.

David Paul Robinson, charged with careless and reckless driving, following too closely, and improper registration, was fined a total of $16.

Charged with having no operator's license, Wilburn M. Brown paid $15.

B. and W. Transports, charged with operating vehicle overweight 550 pounds, paid a total of $22.-50. Easterly Produce paid $27.50 for operating vehicle overweight 650 pounds.

Charged with improper registration, Diamond Transport paid a total of $15.

William Cleatus Hamilton, charged with careless and reckless driving, was fined a total of $45.

W. S. Dean paid a total of $11 on a charge of having no muffler.

A charge of having no muffler and careless and reckless driving cost Jerry Lee Barham $21.

Charged with driving while intoxicated, Willie Heath was fined a total of $120, given six months in jail and put on probation with driver's license revoked for one year.

Silvia Little, charged with disturbing the peace, was fined $21, fine and costs stayed, sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Paul Miller and Harry Nolan, charged with petit larceny, were fined a total of $31, given six months in jail and put on probation for one year.

Gary Stroud, charged with burglary and larceny, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to circuit court with bond set at $1,000.

Soldier Who Had Shell in Abdomen Arrives in U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ten days ago, Pfc. Robert J. Mussari was crouched in a bunker near Khe Sanh, South Vietnam, when the fuse of an 82mm mortar shell lodged in his abdomen.

"There was no pain—just pressure," the 19-year-old Mussari recalled Tuesday from his bed at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Corpsmen took Mussari into a bunker with sandbags around it and, in a tense operation illuminated by four flashlights a doctor, Lt. Edward Feldman, 26, of Forest Hills, N.Y., removed the fuse, which could have exploded at any minute.

Mussari was brought to the hospital here Tuesday and was greeted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mussari, of Olyphant, Pa., and his girl friend, Sheryl Taylor, 18, also of Olyphant.

On his arrival at the hospital, Mussari said he would be willing to return to Vietnam or go even to Korea if hostilities erupted there.

"I'd do anything they want me to do," he said.

Bess Truman Club Meets

NEW MADRID - The New Madrid County Bess Truman Club met Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at Rosie's Colonial restaurant for luncheon and regular meeting. Twenty-one attended.

Mrs. Mildred Wilkins, chaplain, gave a devotional. Mrs. Georgia Hennings, president, presided.

Plans were made for members to attend the Jackson Day activities in March at Springfield.

A membership drive is being conducted. Each member will bring a guest to the next meeting.

Members voted to hold a white donkey sale at the Feb. 22 meeting.

Students to Fight Haircut Edict in Court

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Boys suspended from Brien McMahon high school for letting their hair hang over their eyes, ears or collars have enlisted the aid of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Burton Weinstein, a volunteer lawyer from the Fairfield County ACLU chapter, said Tuesday he has agreed to represent in court four of the boys at first and probably more later.

Most of the 53 students suspended from school for the length of their hair defied a "cut-your-hair" order. A dozen cut their hair and returned to school Tuesday.

About 10 parents of students suspended for wearing their hair long appeared Tuesday night at a School Board meeting but were not allowed to discuss their position.

Some students picketed the school Tuesday, carrying such signs as "Does Society Hang by a Hair?" and "Jesus, Shakespeare, Washington and Lincoln wore long hair. Who should we look up to?"

But many sided with Principal Luther A. Howard, who visited every classroom Monday, deadline for lock-lopping, and suspended 53 boys whose hair covered their eyes, ears or collars. The school has 1,700 pupils.

Asistant Defense Secretary Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solis Horwitz, assistant secretary of defense, has resigned to become a professor at his alma mater, the University of Pittsburgh.

Horwitz became Tuesday the first top-level Pentagon official to follow the pending departure of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

A congressional aide for a decade, Horwitz moved from Capitol Hill to the Pentagon under McNamara at the start of the Kennedy administration and helped draw up the blueprints for reorganization within the Defense Department.

Garcia Fund Custodian Seeks Court Help In Distribution

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The custodian of the Primitivo Garcia fund, swelled to $15,198 by contributions from admirers of the young Mexican immigrant's act of bravery which cost him his life, filed suit Tuesday to determine how it should be distributed.

Garcia, 23, was shot while defending his naturalization teacher from a gang of hoodlums and died last Nov. 28. Charges have been filed against seven youths in the case.

Mrs. Helen Dow, originator of the fund and its trustee, brought the friendly suit in Jackson County Circuit Court to clear herself of any liability.

Complicating distribution is the fact that Garcia died during the fund's collection, and that no one has been named executor of his estate.

Mrs. Dow lists expenditures as $532, for ambulance service, and for bringing a brother from Mexico and a sister from Los Angeles to attend Garcia's funeral.

Servicemen's Wives Receive Envelopes With Letters Missing

SALINA, Kan. (AP)— A postal employe has been suspended at the San Francisco Overseas Mail Facility as a result of a batch of empty envelopes received in Salina.

Letters in the envelopes addressed to 14 wives of servicemen abroad were missing. The women live at Schilling Manor, a Salina housing project for dependents of military personnel on overseas duty.

Accompanying the envelopes was a note informing the wives the mail had been rifled. The postal inspector's office in Salina said the mail had been postmarked Jan. 15, 1968.

Inspectors at San Francisco said it was difficult to determine what had been stolen from the mail. The case has been referred to the U.S. attorney's office there for possible action.

Duke Rudd Opens Business

D. W. "Duke" Rudd, former executive vice president and cashier of the Bank of Chaffee, opened a business called Town & Country Enterprises today at 525 East Malone.

Rudd will concentrate on collections for doctors, dentists, pharmacists and clinics. He will sell used cars and perform notary service.

He was reared in Sikeston and graduated from Sikeston high school in 1952. He attended the University of Missouri in Columbia one and a half years.

Rudd, 33, worked for Commercial Credit Corporation five years. In July of 1961, he began work in the installment loan department of the Planter's Bank, now First National Bank, and worked there until January, 1967, when he left for the position with the Chaffee bank.

He and his wife, Shirley, and their three children, Kim, 11, Kevin, 8, and Kris, 6, have moved from Chaffee to 802 Ladue. They attend the First Christian church.

Rudd was a member of the Lions club and the Jaycees before he moved to Chaffee.

House Tables Copeland's Remap Plan

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Rep. Fred E. (Gene) Copeland, D - New Madrid, says that the Democratic caucus of the Missouri House decided to shelve his congressional redistricting bill until the U.S. Supreme Court acts on a lower court rejection of the 1967 congressional redistricting law.

"What else can we do?" he asked after emerging from the caucus room. "There's no point in going ahead while the appeal is being pressed before the Supreme Court."

Copeland drafted a new and controversial redistricting bill before the current special legislative session started. It is ready for floor action in the House.

But Tuesday the special three-judge panel that earlier threw out the 1967 redistricting law said Missouri has until Feb. 14 to submit its appeal to the Supreme Court in Washington.

Copeland said that makes legislative action on any new measure useless now.

In ordering the delay until Feb. 14 the panel of judges said in case the Supreme Court upholds its adverse decision against the old law that law cannot apply in this year's elections.

New Social Security legislation taking effect in February, with the first bigger checks arriving in March, are the largest increase in benefits in the history of the program and affect some 23.8 million Americans. Cost will be $3.6 billion a year. Major points are an increase of the present payroll tax base, a progressive hiking of the payroll tax (paid by both employe and employer) and a gradual rise in the maximum payroll deduction.

New Social Security legislation taking effect in February, with the first bigger checks arriving in March, are the largest increase in benefits in the history of the program and affect some 23.8 million Americans. Cost will be $3.6 billion a year. Major points are an increase of the present payroll tax base, a progressive hiking of the payroll tax (paid by both employe and employer) and a gradual rise in the maximum payroll deduction.

Ann Landers

Mother Urged to Avoid Hand To Hand Combat With Son

Dear Ann Landers: Our 10-year-old son, who is very large for his age, answered me in a manner which I considered disrespectful and smart-alecky. I turned around and gave him a swat on the bottom. He grabbed ahold of my hand and twisted my wrist.

When his father came home I told him about the incident and he replied, "That's all right. The boy was merely protecting himself." This conversation took place in front of the boy who sat there smirking because his Dad had taken his side.

The next day I went to hit the boy with a belt. He snatched it away from me and shouted, "Dad says I should protect myself and I'm going to do it."

The boy's father has never laid a hand on him. I've always had to do all the disciplining. Now that the boy is getting older I think his dad should hit him and not leave it to me. Please give me your views as things are going from bad to worse. ---N.Y.

Dear N.Y.: Don't expect a father who has never disciplined a child to "take over" all of a sudden. He won't do it. Your best bet is to stop hitting the kid and come up with punishment that means something -- such as no TV, no movie, no dessert, no ballgame. When "spankings" turn into hand-to-hand combat it's time for a change of tactics, Mother.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband reads your column and thinks you have "a lot of brains--for a woman." Please try and make him see my side.

I have some friends who could spent the whole day on the phone. There are times when I just let the phone ring because I'm too busy or not in the mood to talk.

My husband has told me I must always answer the phone, in case someone has something important to tell me. I still think it is better not to take a chance on getting caught by my gabby friends, so I don't answer if I don't feel like it.

The other day my husband tried to phone me and I did not answer. He telephoned our next door neighbor and asked her to come over and see if I was at home. When she reported that I was here he got so mad he called the phone company and instructed them to take the phone out. I have been without a phone for five days and I'm going crazy. Please tell him he is a nut and to put the phone back in. ---OUT OF TOUCH

Dear Out: A woman who would let a phone ring in order to duck her gabby friends should not be calling anyone else a nut.

If you promise to answer the phone from now on I will ask your husband to re-establish the telephone service and give you another chance. How about it?

Dear Ann Landers: When a person says, "Please stop me if you've heard this one," is it good manners to stop him if you have actually heard the joke before?

I have always kept quiet but I'm beginning to think perhaps I should take the drawing room bores at their word -- especially the ones who crucify a good story because they can't handle the dialect.

What's your opinion? -- NO HUM

Dear Ho: The person who invites you to stop him if you've heard the story doesn't really want you to stop him. He wants to tell the story. So, let him. Consider it an exercise in discipline for you -- and therapy for him.

Do you feel ill at ease. . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Change in Condition of Combat Victim

MOREHOUSE -- Mrs. Susie Ledbetter received a telegram Tuesday that reported no change in the condition of her son, Marine Cpl. Clyde R. Ledbetter, 20, who was injured Jan. 20 at Quan Tri, Vietnam, by mortar shell fire.

His wounds were reported to be serious.

Ledbetter is the fiance of Kathy Brothers, 109 Selma, Sikeston.

He received wounds to his left thigh not his left eye as was reported in Saturday's Standard.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How did foolscap paper receive its name?

A—It is paper that has been cut to about 13 by 16 or 17 inches. It is so called from the watermark of a fool's cap and bells used by old papermakers.

Q—In what sport is the Stanley Cup awarded?

A—Ice hockey.

If You Were The Judge

Student Editor Has Right Of Free Expression

Charley attended a state-supported college where he had the dubious honor of being editor of the college paper.

Like a limited monarchy, his was a limited editorship. In addition to other restrictions, the college officials passed a rule thar prohibited the paper from printing any derogatory comments about the state or the governor of the state. And, Charley had a number of uncomplimentary remarks that he would liked to have made in just that direction.

Overcoming the temptation by yielding to it, Charley finally made the remarks in an editorial. Immediately, he was suspended from school for violating the college rule.

"You can't suspend me," Charley protested. "College rules that arbitrarily gag college students aren't legal."

"Since the state owns the college" was the answer, "and the governor controls it for the state, they've got every right to prohibit criticism. Since it's their football, you've got to play by their rules."

Intent upon having his suspension lifted, Charley took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you lift Charley's suspension?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that the privilege to communicate concerning matters of public interest is constitutionally protected against infringement by state officials. A state cannot force a college student to forfeit his constitutional protected freedom of expression as a condition to his attending a state-supported institution. If a state does not want criticism from a college newspaper, it can prohibit the publication of the paper. In this case, the judge noted in passing, Charley's editorial was well written and in good taste, even though controversial.

Foreign Aid Again Facing Rough Going

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's new call for a substantial increase in foreign-aid appropriations appears headed for the same rough going that saw him sharply rebuffed by Congress on the same issue last year.

The debate is likely to include new controversy over military aid to underdeveloped countries.

The President is asking for a one-third foreign-aid increase, including economic and military assistance, less than six weeks after an economy-minded Congress slashed that same percentage from his 1967 recommendations.

His new budget asks $3.04 billion in new spending authority. His 1967 proposal was cut to less than $2.3 billion, lowest figure in the program's 20-year history.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he saw no reason why members would reverse themselves this time around.

Earlier, Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he saw no prospect of any change in the congressional outlook so long as the financial demands of the Vietnam war continue.

Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, one of the most outspoken opponents of foreign aid, said the President's new recommendations "have less chance than last year's."

Other committee members cited continuing discussion of a tax increase, the economy mood of Congress and war spending as factors in what they said was growing opposition to the aid program.

Johnson asked for $2.5 billion in new spending authority for economic aid and $540 million for military assistance in the 1968-69 budget.

Easter Seal Meeting at Poplar Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF - An Easter Seal meeting will be held Friday at the Holiday Inn.

Scott County residents, particularly parent organizations and individuals in medicine and education, are among those in 18 counties invited to attend the 6:30 Dutch - treat dinner. The meeting is open to the public.

Mrs. Buford Baber, Sikeston, chairman of the Scott County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, announced that those who cannot attend the dinner are welcomed to join the group at 7:30 p.m. when the program begins.

Moody Summitt from the Poplar Bluff office of the Missouri division of health will give a demonstration-talk on "Fire and Burn Injury Prevention".

Mrs. Edna Kreyling of St. Louis, South Missouri field representative for the Missouri Society for Crippled Children and Adults and chairman of the area meeting, will show a film, "Stop - Danger!", produced by the Easter Seal Society.

The 1968 State Easter Seal Child, Lynne Renee Walbert of Campbell, Mo., will be introduced by Mrs. Catherine Hellman of St. Louis, public relations director of the state agency.

The society's executive director, Roy A. Davidson, who will also attend the meeting, will address a district meeting of public health nurses on "Children with Minimal Brian Dysfunction."

The Scott County Society is one of 115 county affiliates of the state society. It purchases or provides care and treatment services for physically handicapped children and adults in the county.

No Prosecution Planned in LSD Blindness Hoax

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Norman Yoder, the state official who falsely reported six college students were blinded while under the influence of the drug LSD, will not be prosecuted by the state.

Pennsylvania Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett, repeating at a news conference today the story was a "hoax perpetrated" by Yoder, said, "We reviewed all the files in the Office of the Blind and have concluded that there were no fraudulent payment of benefits and no resulting financial loss to the Commonwealth or federal government."

Yoder, state commissioner for the blind, was suspended Jan. 18 from his $20,690 post by Gov. Raymond P. Shafer after an initial investigation uncovered inconsistencies in the case. Yoder, who is blind, is now in a Philadelphia psychiatric hospital at his own request.

Missouri Pacific Shows Income Dip

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The Missouri Pacific system reported today ordinary consolidated income for 1967 was $28.28 million, down $3.46 million from the previous year.

President Downing B. Jenks said if nonrecurring extraordinary income of $8.2 million were added to ordinary income, the total would be $31.48 million, compared with $27.9 million in 1966.

Jenks said 1967 operating revenues totaled $424.19 million, down $8.24 million, largely as a result of a lower level of business activity and a sharp reduction in grain shipments.

Operating expenses were down $4.63 million, to $325.75 million.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Every one of us shall give account of himself to God. (Romans 14:12)

PRAYER: Our Father, all things come from Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee. Accept us and use us and our gifts in the upbuilding of Thy holy kingdom. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Ann Landers

Mother Urged to Avoid Hand To Hand Combat With Son

Dear Ann Landers: Our 10-year-old son, who is very large for his age, answered me in a manner which I considered disrespectful and smart-alecky. I turned around and gave him a swat on the bottom. He grabbed ahold of my hand and twisted my wrist.

When his father came home I told him about the incident and he replied, "That's all right. The boy was merely protecting himself." This conversation took place in front of the boy who sat there smirking because his Dad had taken his side.

The next day I went to hit the boy with a belt. He snatched it away from me and shouted, "Dad says I should protect myself and I'm going to do it."

The boy's father has never laid a hand on him. I've always had to do all the disciplining. Now that the boy is getting older I think his dad should hit him and not leave it to me. Please give me your views as things are going from bad to worse. --N.Y.

Dear N.Y.: Don't expect a father who has never disciplined a child to "take over" all of a sudden. He won't do it. Your best bet is to stop hitting the kid and come up with punishment that means something -- such as no TV, no movie, no dessert, no ballgame. When "spankings" turn into hand-to-hand combat it's time for a change of tactics, Mother.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband reads your column and thinks you have "a lot of brains--for a woman." Please try and make him see my side.

I have some friends who could spent the whole day on the phone. There are times when I just let the phone ring because I'm too busy or not in the mood to talk.

My husband has told me I must always answer the phone, in case someone has something important to tell me. I still think it is better not to take a chance on getting caught by my gabby friends, so I don't answer if I don't feel like it.

The other day my husband tried to phone me and I did not answer. He telephoned our next door neighbor and asked her to come over and see if I was at home. When she reported that I was here he got so mad he called the phone company and instructed them to take the phone out. I have been without a phone for five days and I'm going crazy. Please tell him he is a nut and to put the phone back in. --OUT OF TOUCH

Dear Out: A woman who would let a phone ring in order to duck her gabby friends should not be calling anyone else a nut.

If you promise to answer the phone from now on I will ask your husband to re-establish the telephone service and give you another chance. How about it?

Dear Ann Landers: When a person says, "Please stop me if you've heard this one," Is it good manners to stop him if you have actually heard the joke before?

I have always kept quiet but I'm beginning to think perhaps I should take the drawing room bores at their word -- especially the ones who crucify a good story because they can't handle the dialect.

What's your opinion? --- NO HUM

Dear Ho: The person who invites you to stop him if you've heard the story doesn't really want you to stop him. He wants to tell the story. So, let him. Consider it an exercise in discipline for you -- and therapy for him.

Do you feel ill at ease. . .out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Every one of us shall give account of himself to God. (Romans 14:12)

PRAYER: Our Father, all things come from Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee. Accept us and use us and our gifts in the upbuilding of Thy holy kingdom. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Clyde R. Ledbetter

No Change in Condition of Combat Victim

MOREHOUSE -- Mrs. Susie Ledbetter received a telegram Tuesday that reported no change in the condition of her son, Marine Cpl. Clyde R. Ledbetter, 20, who was injured Jan. 20 at Quan Tri, Vietnam, by mortar shell fire.

His wounds were reported to be serious.

Ledbetter is the fiance of Kathy Brothers, 109 Selma, Sikeston.

He received wounds to his left thigh not his left eye as was reported in Saturday's Standard.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How did foolscap paper receive its name?

A—It is paper that has been cut to about 13 by 16 or 17 inches. It is so called from the watermark of a fool's cap and bells used by old papermakers.

Q—In what sport is the Stanley Cup awarded?

A—Ice hockey.

If You Were The Judge

Student Editor Has Right Of Free Expression

Charley attended a state-supported college where he had the dubious honor of being editor of the college paper.

Like a limited monarchy, his was a limited editorship. In addition to other restrictions, the college officials passed a rule thar prohibited the paper from printing any derogatory comments about the state or the governor of the state. And, Charley had a number of uncomplimentary remarks that he would liked to have made in just that direction.

Overcoming the temptation by yielding to it, Charley finally made the remarks in an editorial. Immediately, he was suspended from school for violating the college rule.

"You can't suspend me," Charley protested. "College rules that arbitrarily gag college students aren't legal."

"Since the state owns the college" was the answer, "and the governor controls it for the state, they've got every right to prohibit criticism. Since it's their football, you've got to play by their rules."

Intent upon having his suspension lifted, Charley took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you lift Charley's suspension?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that the privilege to communicate concerning matters of public interest is constitutionally protected against infringement by state officials. A state cannot force a college student to forfeit his constitutionally protected freedom of expression as a condition to his attending a state-supported institution. If a state does not want criticism from a college newspaper, it can prohibit the publication of the paper. In this case, the judge noted in passing, Charley's editorial was well written and in good taste, even though controversial.

Utility Firm Offers Trip

An all expense trip to Fayetteville, Ark., to see the nuclear project in which it is engaged with other companies, will again be given by Missouri Utilities Co., to a pupil and his teacher participating in the Southeast Missouri Regional Science Fair.

Ray W. Call, president of the company, said the award will be made in the senior division — grades 10 to 12 -- 12 to a contestant in the physical sciences.

It is expected the trip will be made in April or May.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1790, the Supreme Court held its first session, meeting in the Royal Exchange building in New York City.

On this date:

In 1861, Texas voted to secede from the Union.

In 1862, Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was published for the first time in the Atlantic Monthly.

In 1892, Mrs. William Astor gave a ball at her New York town house. It was limited to 400 guests, the beginning of the social term "The 400."

In 1893, Thomas A. Edison finished work on the world's first moving picture studio — in West Orange, N.J.

In 1898, an insurance policy covering the driver of an automobile, the first such policy in the world, was issued by the Travelers Insurance Co. to Dr. Thomas Martin of Buffalo, N.Y.

In 1956, Autherine Lucy, a 26-year-old Negro student, became the first Negro to be admitted to the University of Alabama—on orders issued by a federal court.

Ten years ago— President Nasser announced the merger of Egypt and Syria into the United Arab Republic.

Five years ago — Canada's Prime Minister John Diefenbaker charged the United States with unwarranted interference in Canadian affairs in a dispute over defense policies.

One year ago— House Democrats refused to restore the seniority of Rep. John Bell Williams of Mississippi, who had been dropped to the lowest rung of the ladder for supporting Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

The second In-Service Training Workshop for teachers will be held the evening and night of Thursday, February 8. School will be dismissed the following day, Friday, February 9.

These In - Service Training Workshop sessions where scheduled by the Board of Education at the beginning of the school year in order to give teachers the opportunity to work together in planning and learning sessions, with the aim of providing better educational opportunities for our children.

The upcoming workshop is designed to develop better understanding and treatment of the problems of the disadvantaged child. Mrs. Anne Laughlin, of Kansas City, Regional Director of Women in Community Services, and a pioneer in working with handicapped or underpriviledged people of all ages, will speak at the dinner meeting in connection with the workshop. Mrs. Laughlin is a member of Missouri Opportunities Inc. appointed by Governor Hearnes to study the Job Corps and other related federal programs in Missouri, to make recommendations for program content and to assist in placement of the graduates of these job training organizations.

A meeting of the Citizens Advisory Council for schools will also be held in connection with the workshop and council members will attend the dinner.

The next In-Service Workshop will be held in late April or early May. School will also be dismissed on the Friday of that session.

Parents may wish to get medical or dental appointments for their children on the days that school is released for workshop sessions.

A public kindergarten program, such as is planned to begin in this community next fall, will be under the direction of the Board of Education exactly as are all other of the school programs. The kindergarten program will be planned and continued in accordance with Missouri's State Department of Education regulations and will provide actual learning experiences, to better prepare children for entrance into the first grade.

Almost all Missouri's schools will now provide kindergarten education, because of legislation enacted by the last session of the Missouri General Assembly which provides state financial support to at least cover part of the cost. That share of financing a kindergarten here, which must be borne by our school district, can be covered by only a 15¢ increase in the tax levy.

Those schools who do not hereafter have kindergartens will be somewhat handicapped because their students do not have this experience. Also, any district not participating will, in effect, be paying for a service which their children do not receive, in that their citizens would pay state taxes to support kindergartens in those schools which offer this program.

For a considerable number of years, the State Department of Education's Supervisor of Public Schools has recommended that our school establish a kindergarten. Because all of the cost would have, heretofore, been borne entirely by our school district, the Board of Education felt that our funds could best be expended on grades one through twelve. Their decision not to establish a kindergarten, was not because they did not believe in the value of the program, but simply because our financial resources did not seem to allow us to bear all of the cost. Now that the state will participate in the cost, we are in a position to provide this essential program, at only a relatively small tax expenditure.

We suspect, also, that the state will be more rigid in their classification, the highest given to Missouri's schools, unless we do establish a kindergarten within a reasonable time. Classification is important in that it means that the school receiving a AAA rating must provide a high quality of educational services, thus a better school program for students. It also means, to some extent, that students from a AAA rated school have a better chance for admission to college.

This community has always indicated its interest in sound education. It has consistently voted to support such a program. Now that kindergartens are a needful part of a modern educational program, and can be provided at relatively low cost, we expect that our community will decide to do so.

Northwestern University's annual survey of employment trends indicate that next spring's college graduates will have the best job prospects, the best employment opportunities and higher salaries than at any previous time in our history. According to the Northwestern study, college graduates with bachelor degrees can expect about $764 per month in engineering; about $681 for accountants; about $626 for salesmen; $622 for business administrators and about $611 for liberal arts graduates who might be employed in teaching journalism, as librarians, etc. Beginning salaries do not always indicate the potential in a profession, as some start higher, others start lower and raise to a higher level with experience. Anyway, today's college graduate who has saleable knowledge or skill is in a happy position.

A a lesser level, vocationally trained trade or technical school graduates, from either high school or post high school are in an equally good position to find good jobs.

"I don't think the state has a duty to send to college those people who will not follow the rules. This to me, is a very simple and clear-cut matter. If a student seeks admission to a college or university, then by virtue of his application he agrees to abide by the procedures which regulate that institution. This is a basic principle which applies to other facets of our lives and I see no reason why it should not apply to students."

The Governor made this statement in a speech delivered during the dedication of a new building at Lincoln University recently. We couldn't agree more.

We attended an interesting meeting of the Missouri School District Reorganization Commission, held at State College in Cape Girardeau, Tuesday. Board members or administrators from practically all of Southeast Missouri's schools were in the audience. Representative James Spainhower, who is chaiman of the Commission, presided. The Commission was created, at the recommendation of Governor Hearnes and the General Assembly, "To develop a master plan for school district reorganization over the entire state".

To answer the question "How large should a school district be?", the Commission has established the following critera:

(1) A school district should be large enough to provide competent leadership at reasonable cost.

(2) A school district should be large enough to provide a complete educational program, including a comprehensive secondary school.

(3) A school district should be large enough to avoid the waste which is associated with very small operations.

(4) If possible, a school district should have a tax base which permits it to provide an adequate share of total costs out of local revenue.

(5) A school district should be small enough in terms of population and geographic area to permit school administrators and school boards to maintain communication with the community.

Minimum standards for reorganization are given as follows:

(1) The provision of both elementary and secondary education should be a function of every school district in Missouri.

(2) No school district in urban or suburban areas of the state should have fewer than 1,000 students in grades 9 through 12; 1,500 is a preferred figure.

(3) No school district in rural areas should have fewer than 500 students in grades 9 through 12; 750 students is a perferred figure.

Michael Stroud

Michael Stroud Dies In Louisiana

LECOMPTE, LA. -- Michael W. Stroud, 19, formerly of Bell City, lost his life in an automible accident Jan. 4.

He was associated with his father in the operation of the Ponderosa Plantation.

Services were in Hixon Brothers Funeral Home, and burial was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, both in Alexandria, La.

Young Stroud's car ran off highway 547, near Lecompte while rounding a curve, ran through a ditch and uprooted a tree. The car overturned throwing the driver out of the car when it struck a fence post. He was alone in the car at 10 p.m. when the crash occurred.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Stroud, and spent his youth in Bell City. He graduated from Gilbert, La. high school, and attended a diesel mechanics school in Nashville.

Surviving are his parents; two sisters, Mrs. Cynthia Eskew, Wisner, La., and Kimberly Stroud, Lecompte; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Esther Stroud, Morrilton, Ark.; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Heigle, Rolling Fork, Miss.

Among the cousins who acted as pallbearers was Phillip McKuin of Bernie, Mo.

Former Eastern Star State Officer Dies

DEXTER - Services were held Thursday for Mrs. Candace Fort Green, who served as worthy matron of Missouri chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star in 1934, and who had long been affiliated with the organization.

The services were at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist church by the Rev. Marshall Dark, pastor. Burial was in Dexter cemetery with Ranie service.

Mrs. Green, 86, died Monday at her home.

She was born near Leora on Feb. 10, 1881. Her husband, Hutson Green, whom she married on July 12, 1899, died March 16, 1942.

Mrs. Green was active in the Baptist church and had taught a Sunday School class.

Active in the OES since 1917, she had served as district deputy grand matron of the 50th district before becoming worthy grand matron of the state organization. She also was a member of the general grand international chapter and of the Candace Green Club of the 50th District.

Mrs. Green is survived by two sons, Wm. J. Green, Kansas City, and Hutson Green Jr., Malden; two daughters, Mrs. Ethel McCorkle, Halls, Tenn., and Mrs. Ruth Dowdy, Hayden, Ariz.; three sisters, Miss Gertrude Fort, Mrs. Winfred F. Mulvey and Mrs. Reverdy F. Smith, St. Louis, seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Bootheel High on Retirement Plan Charter Members

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Seven cities, three counties and a library district were accepted Wednesday as charter members of the new Missouri local government employes retirement system.

More than 600 employes will be covered.

Charter members include the cities of Festus, Sikeston, Mexico, St. Charles, Rock Hill, Jackson and Shrewsbury; the counties of New Madrid, Cole and Pemiscot, and the Mid-Continent Public Library Service of Jackson and Clay counties.

The retirement system was authorized by the legislature last year. It is the first time cities under 40,000 population, counties and other political subdivisions have had retirement systems for all employes.

John H. Poelker of St. Louis, chairman of the board of trustees, said 20 or 30 more cities, counties and districts are taking steps to join the system.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

The second In-Service Training Workshop for teachers will be held the evening and night of Thursday, February 8. School will be dismissed the following day, Friday, February 9.

These In - Service Training Workshop sessions where scheduled by the Board of Education at the beginning of the school year in order to give teachers the opportunity to work together in planning and learning sessions, with the aim of providing better educational opportunities for our children.

The upcoming workshop is designed to develop better understanding and treatment of the problems of the disadvantaged child. Mrs. Anne Laughlin, of Kansas City, Regional Director of Women in Community Services, and a pioneer in working with handicapped or underprivileged people of all ages, will speak at the dinner meeting in connection with the workshop. Mrs. Laughlin is a member of Missouri Opportunities Inc. appointed by Governor Hearnes to study the Job Corps and other related federal programs in Missouri, to make recommendations for program content and to assist in placement of the graduates of these job training organizations.

A meeting of the Citizens Advisory Council for schools will also be held in connection with the workshop and council members will attend the dinner.

The next In-Service Workshop will be held in late April or early May. School will also be dismissed on the Friday of that session.

Parents may wish to get medical or dental appointments for their children on the days that school is released for workshop sessions.

A public kindergarten program, such as is planned to begin in this community next fall, will be under the direction of the Board of Education exactly as are all other of the school programs. The kindergarten program will be planned and continued in accordance with Missouri's State Department of Education regulations and will provide actual learning experiences to better prepare children for entrance into the first grade.

Almost all Missouri's schools will now provide kindergarten education, because of legislation enacted by the last session of the Missouri General Assembly which provides state financial support to at least cover part of the cost. That share of financing a kindergarten here, which must be borne by our school district, can be covered by only a 15¢ increase in the tax levy.

Those schools who do not hereafter have kindergartens will be somewhat handicapped because their students do not have this experience. Also, any district not participating will, in effect, be paying for a service which their children do not receive, in that their citizens would pay state taxes to support kindergartens in those schools which offer this program.

For a considerable number of years, the State Department of Education's Supervisor of Public Schools has recommended that our school establish a kindergarten. Because all of the cost would have, heretofore, been borne entirely by our school district, the Board of Education felt that our funds could best be expended on grades one through twelve. Their decision not to establish a kindergarten, was not because they did not believe in the value of the program, but simply because our financial resources did not seem to allow us to bear all of the cost. Now that the state will participate in the cost, we are in a position to provide this essential program, at only a relatively small tax expenditure.

We suspect, also, that the state will be more rigid in their classification, the highest given to Missouri's schools, unless we do establish a kindergarten within a reasonable time. Classification is important in that it means that the school receiving a AAA rating must provide a high quality of educational services, thus a better school program for students. It also means, to some extent, that students from a AAA rated school have a better chance for admission to college.

This community has always indicated its interest in sound education. It has consistently voted to support such a program. Now that kindergartens are a needful part of a modern educational program, and can be provided at relatively low cost, we expect that our community will decide to do so.

Northwestern University's annual survey of employment trends indicate that next spring's college graduates will have the best job prospects, the best employment opportunities and higher salaries than at any previous time in our history.

According to the Northwestern study, college graduates with bachelor degrees can expect about $764 per month in engineering; about $681 for accountants; about $626 for salesmen; $622 for business administrators and about $611 for liberal arts graduates who might be employed in teaching journalism, as librarians, etc. Beginning salaries do not always indicate the potential in a profession, as some start higher, others start lower and raise to a higher level with experience. Anyway, today's college graduate who has saleable knowledge or skill is in a happy position.

A a lesser level, vocationally trained trade or technical school graduates, from either high school or post high school are in an equally good position to find good jobs.

"I don't think the state has a duty to send to college those people who will not follow the rules. This to me, is a very simple and clear-cut matter. If a student seeks admission to a college or university, then by virtue of his application he agrees to abide by the procedures which regulate that institution. This is a basic principle which applies to other facets of our lives and I see no reason why it should not apply to students."

The Governor made this statement in a speech delivered during the dedication of a new building at Lincoln University recently. We couldn't agree more.

We attended an interesting meeting of the Missouri School District Reorganization Commission, held at State College in Cape Girardeau, Tuesday. Board members or administrators from practically all of Southeast Missouri's schools were in the audience. Representative James Spainhower, who is chairman of the Commission, presided. The Commission was created, at the recommendation of Governor Hearnes and the General Assembly, "To develop a master plan for school district reorganization over the entire state".

To answer the question "How large should a school district be?", the Commission has established the following critera:

(1) A school district should be large enough to provide competent leadership at reasonable cost.

(2) A school district should be large enough to provide a complete educational program, including a comprehensive secondary school.

(3) A school district should be large enough to avoid the waste which is associated with very small operations.

(4) If possible, a school district should have a tax base which permits it to provide an adequate share of total costs out of local revenue.

(5) A school district should be small enough in terms of population and geographic area to permit school administrators and school boards to maintain communication with the community.

Minimum standards for reorganization are given as follows:

(1) The provision of both elementary and secondary education should be a function of every school district in Missouri.

(2) No school district in urban or suburban areas of the state should have fewer than 1,000 students in grades 9 through 12; 1,500 is a preferred figure.

(3) No school district in rural areas should have fewer than 500 students in grades 9 through 12; 750 students is a perferred figure.

(4) An essential criterion for the organization of school districts should be the reduction of disparities in the assessed valuation of property behind each child.

Representative Shainhower is also chairman of the House Education Commission and has been a leader in progress toward better education in Missouri.
